Bloom's most loyal supporter is its dignified superintendent, Dr. Harold Metcalf. Whether he be guiding young lives with his foresighted philosophies or joining the kids in a cheer at a Pep rally, his integrity and sincerity make him a man to be respected and admired. His school spirit and genial personality have made him the ideal of all who know him.

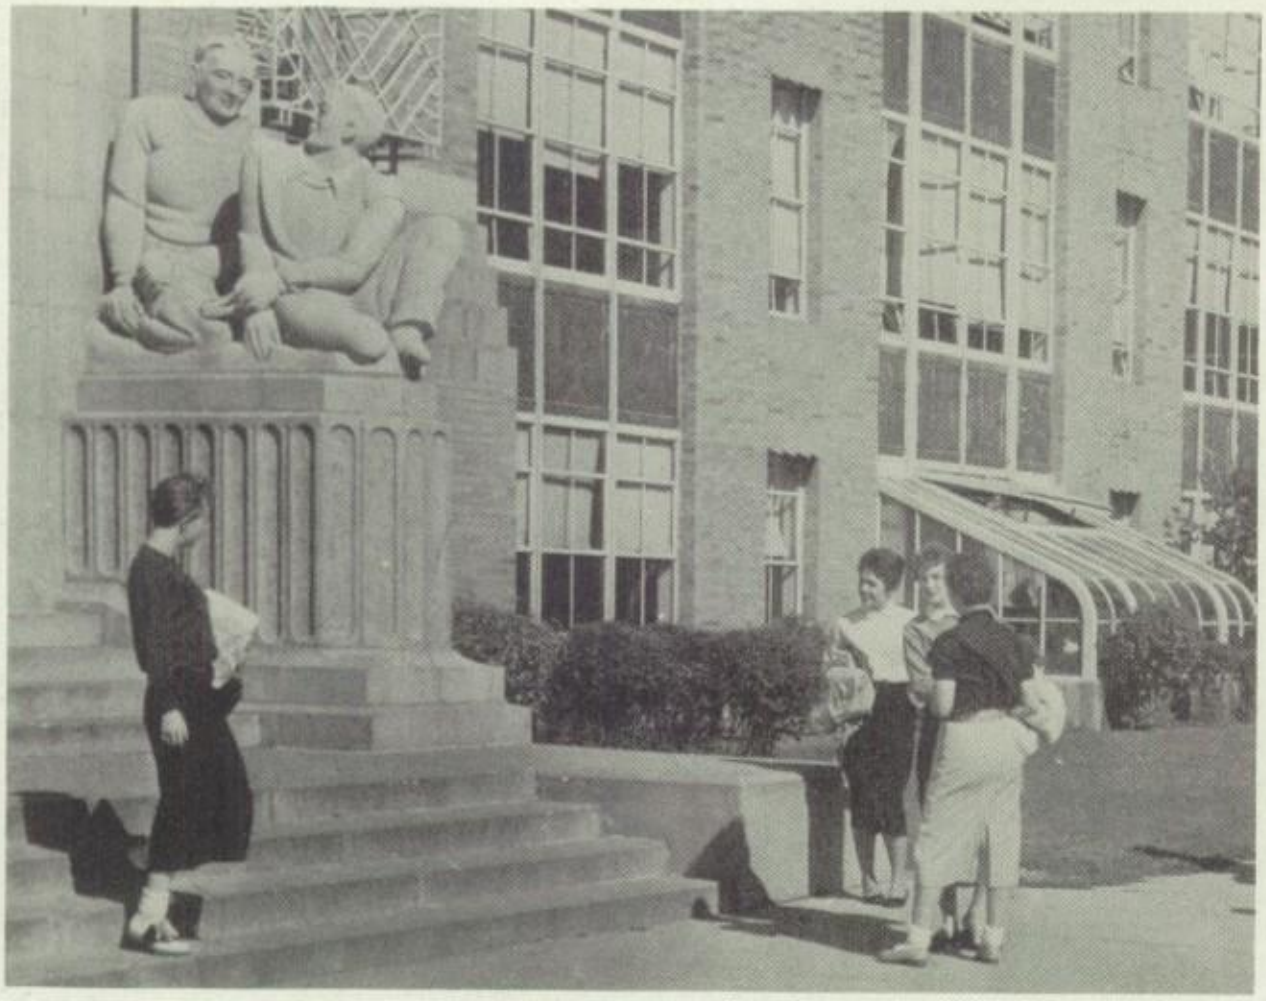
BLOOM

Mingled with his zest for knowledge, the Bloom student finds himself whirling in the center of exciting and wonderful fun. The frequent assemblies and pep rallies tend to instill in the Bloomite a sense of school spirit and loyalty - all of this - a part of the necessary whole.

LIFE



The statues near the front steps have seen generations of Bloomites meet on the first day of school.

OPENING DAY

The bewildered, excited freshmen clashed with the experienced upperclassmen for the first time today. Everyone managed a half-hearted smile when the announcements rang cheerily over the P.A. system but all felt genuinely glad to resume companionships again. The freshmen felt halfway confident as they had previously been oriented into the rigors of Bloom life the Friday before the official opening of school. The upperclassmen did their best at giving directions and orders, and everyone knew it was back to school for the best year yet!

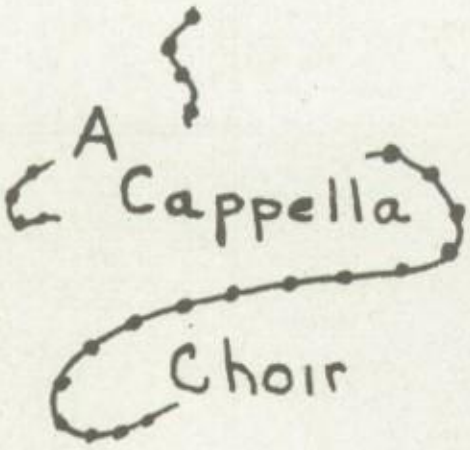
Registration is old stuff to seniors, but a mystery to freshmen such as Anne Inwood, Judy Wilson, and Laura Worley.

PHYSICS

Harvey Neer and Stan Rothbardt; Jerry Davis and Bob DeBolt; Connie Greer and Barbara Hansen; Charles Verba and Lorraine Emsweiler; Charles Didrickson and Fred Ruge all look like future physicists as they concentrate on the Heat of Vaporization experiment.

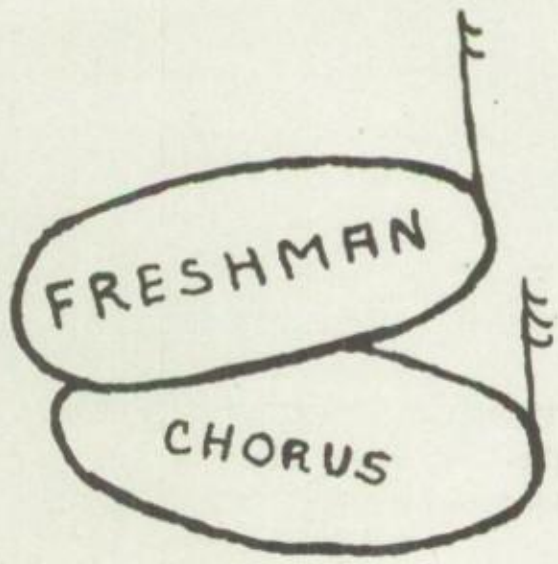
Gary Gasbarra and Bob Munro, co-editors of the Annual, work diligently on a titration experiment in 5th hour Chemistry class.

CHEMISTRY



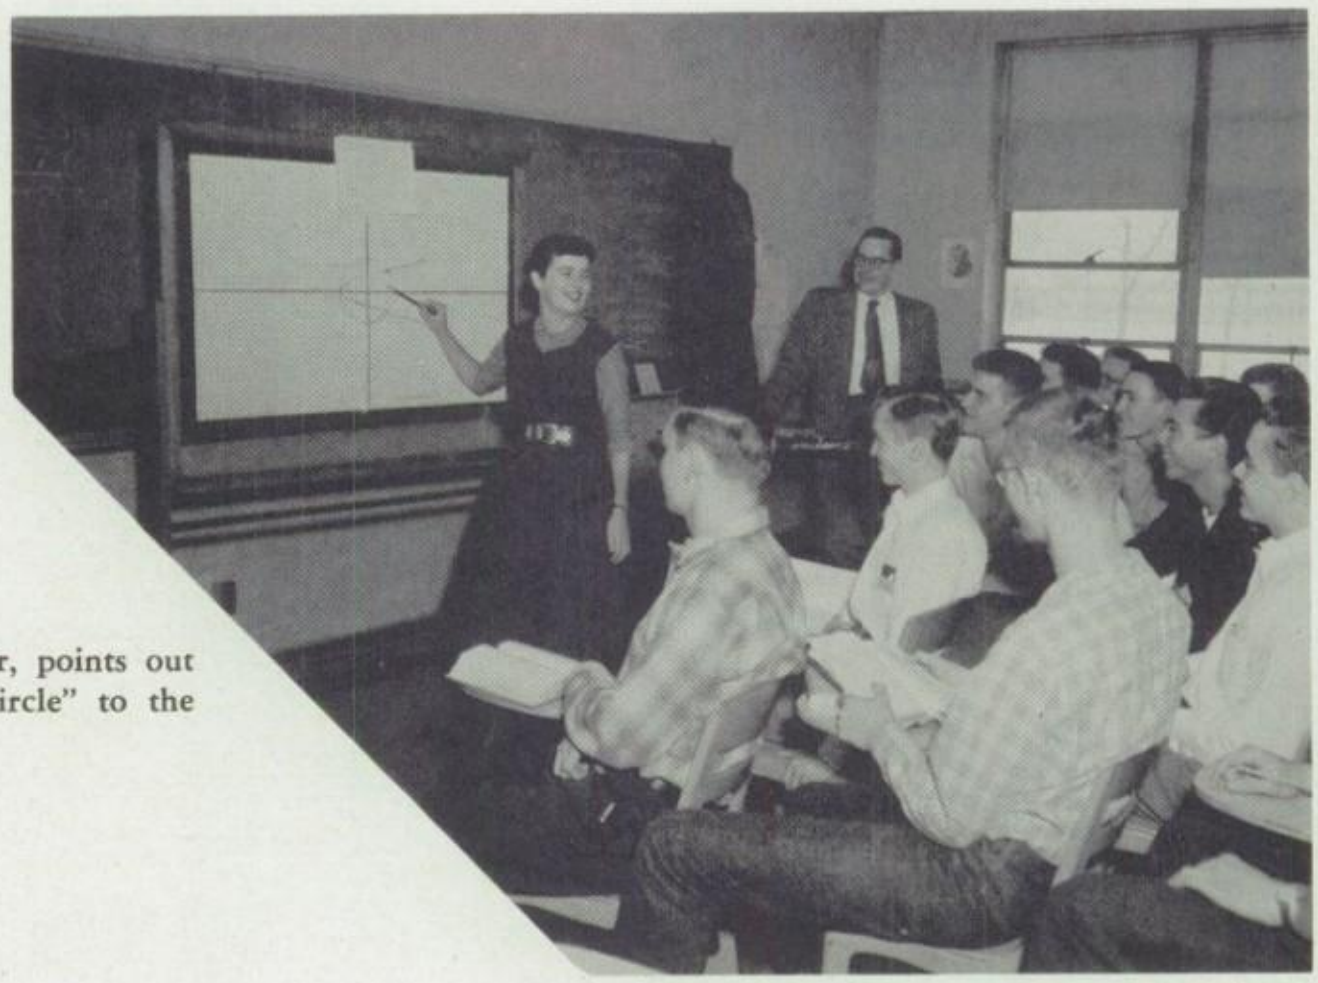
During a practice session the A Cappella Choir rehearses one of the many songs which comprises only a small part of its repertoire. Someone seems to be listening to them as evidenced by that picture in the background.

A "candid" shot of the Freshman Chorus finds them with hands folded and feet crossed. Could it have been posed?



SPEECH — Beverly D'Andrea, senior, tips her glasses in hopes of "hearing" the talk better during speech class.

DEVELOPMENTAL READING—Bob La Morticella, senior, smiles thoughtfully as Miss Paulsen stands near the projector during a session of developmental reading.



TRIGONOMETRY — Judy Greven, senior, points out the "horizontal parabola intersecting a circle" to the otherwise all-boy trigonometry class.

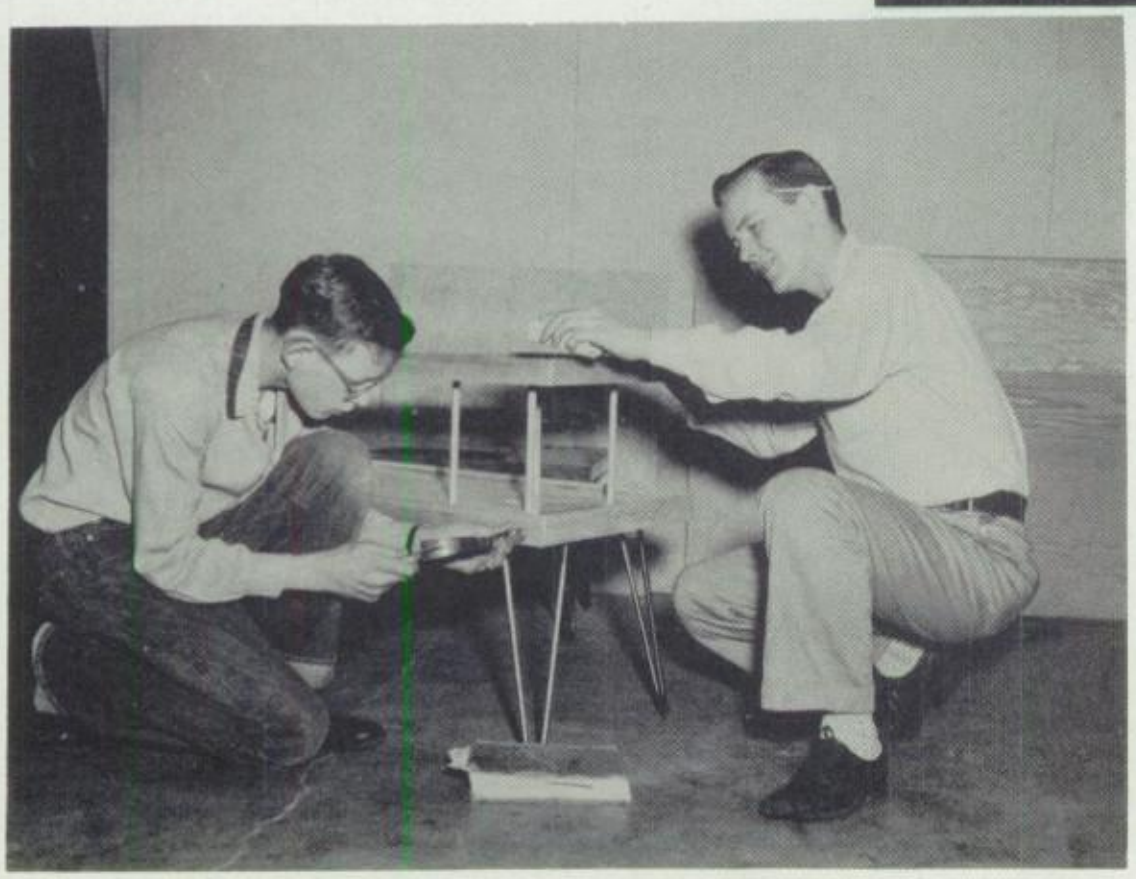
A two minute "order drill" is being executed by the typists in Miss Sturtevant's class. As evidenced by the photo, our future "secretaries" seem to be of the weaker sex.

Barbara Jerabek, Joan Burris, Nancy Garnell, Nancy Yacono, and Carol Calibet are in all the stages of preparing "dusters" in their Clothing class.

Sharlene Burchett and Dolores Peters are doing their best at learning the art of cooking. One seems to be whipping up a tossed salad while the other has her eyes on some golden-brown perch.

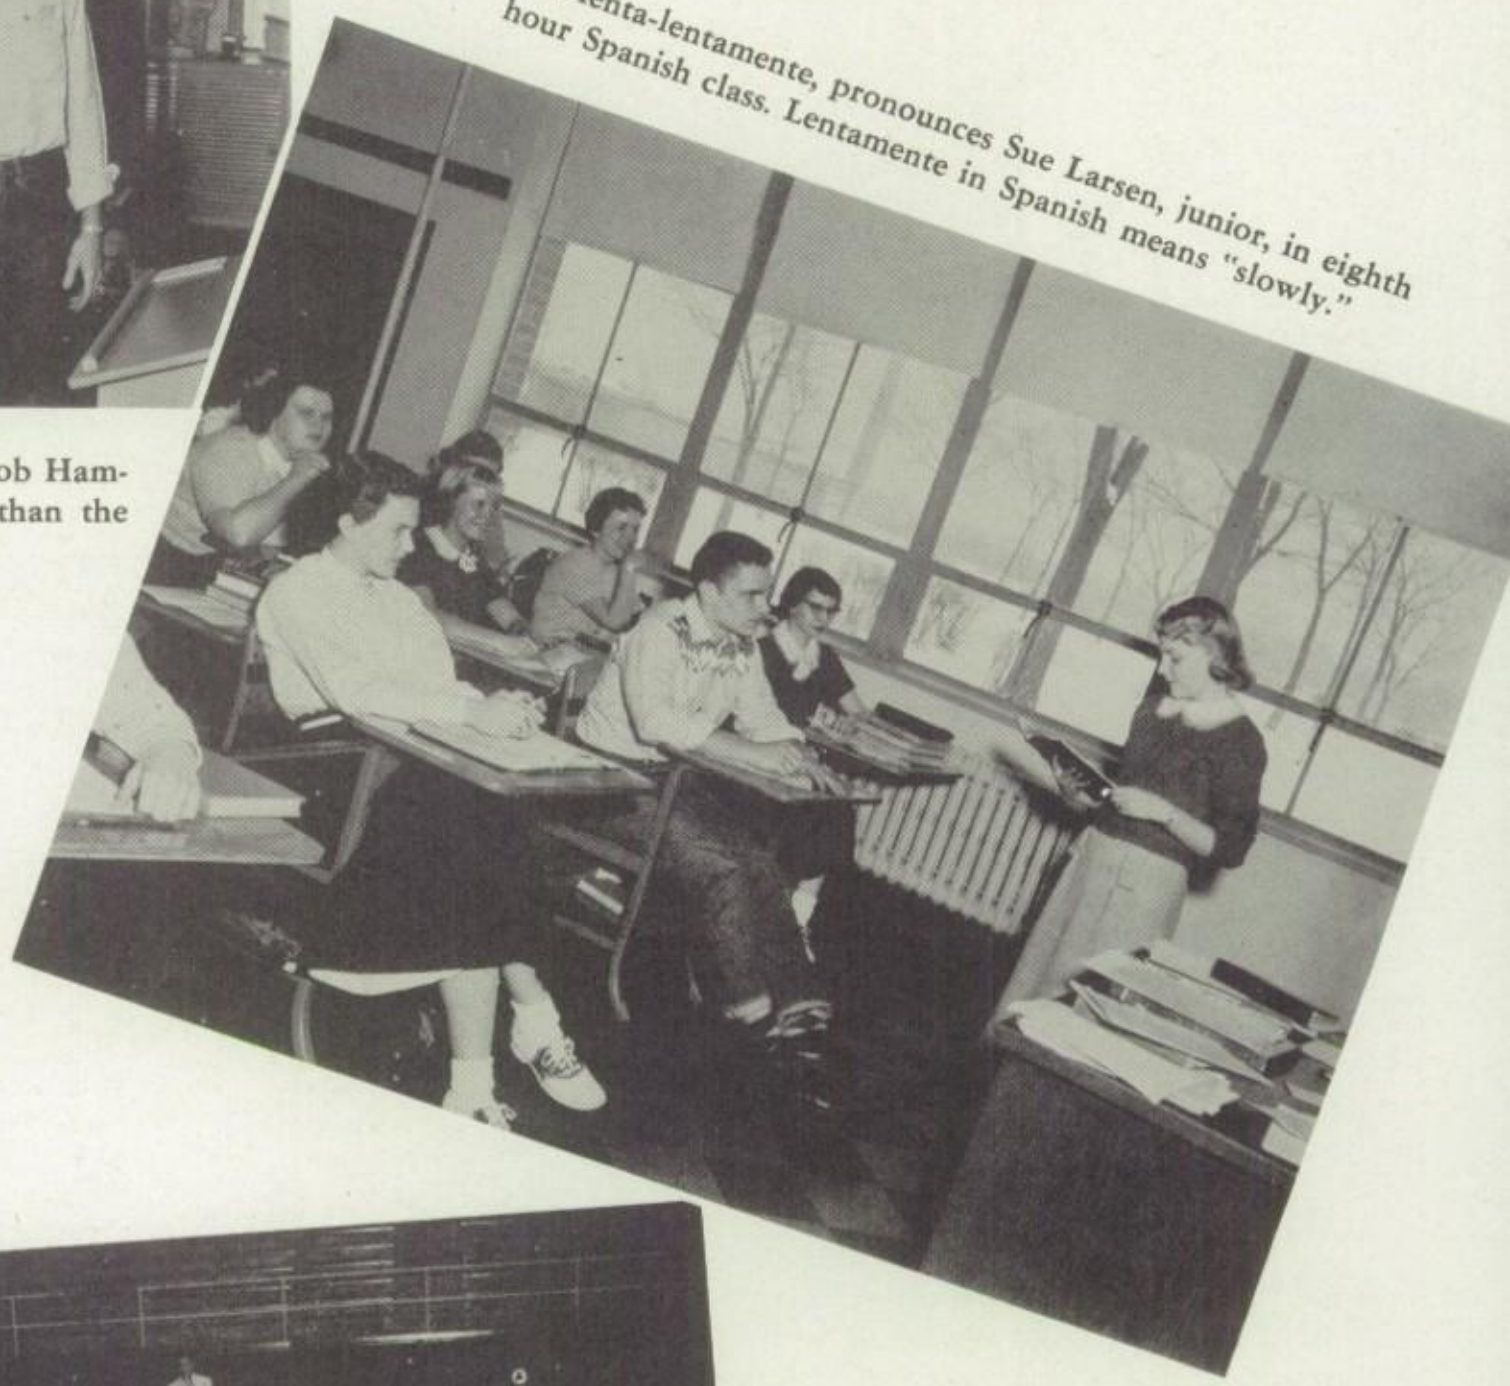
Jan Fuller, Dennis Figura, and Fred Timms are constructing papier-maché models of horses during an Art class. Each seems to have his own idea of a horse.

Tony Cameli, William Hill, John Berkhead, and Ralph DellAngelo try valiantly to save a broken down car engine during a class in auto mechanics shop. Do you think it will run? The car—that is!

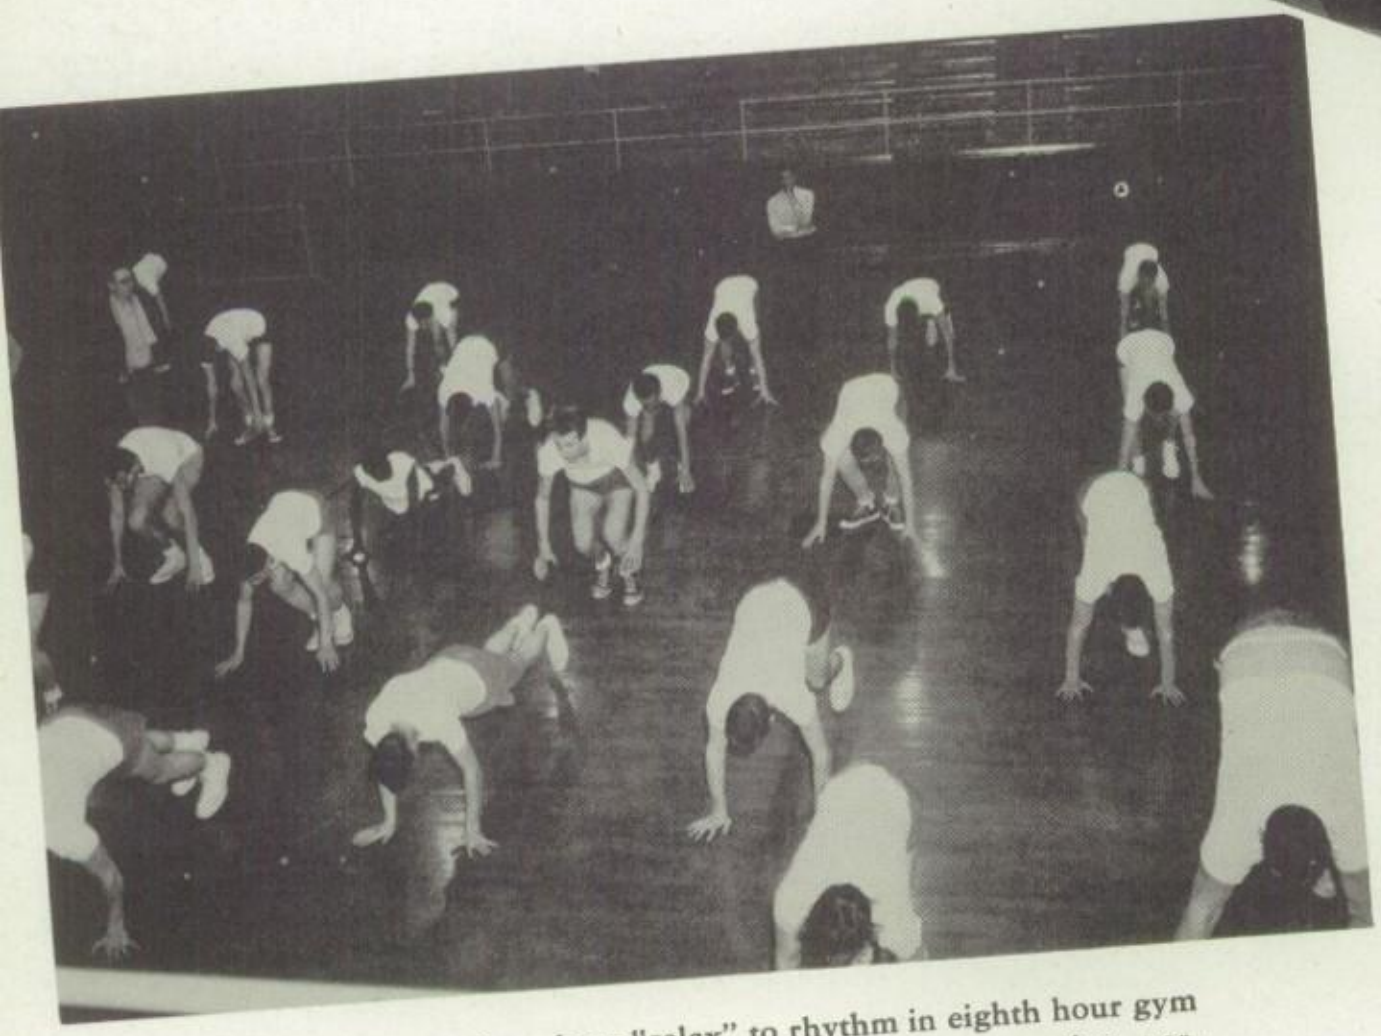


L. Heusmann and Don Schofield put the finishing touches on an end table in Crafts class.

Pointing out countries in Europe is Bob Hammer. Bob seems to be farther away than the countries themselves.

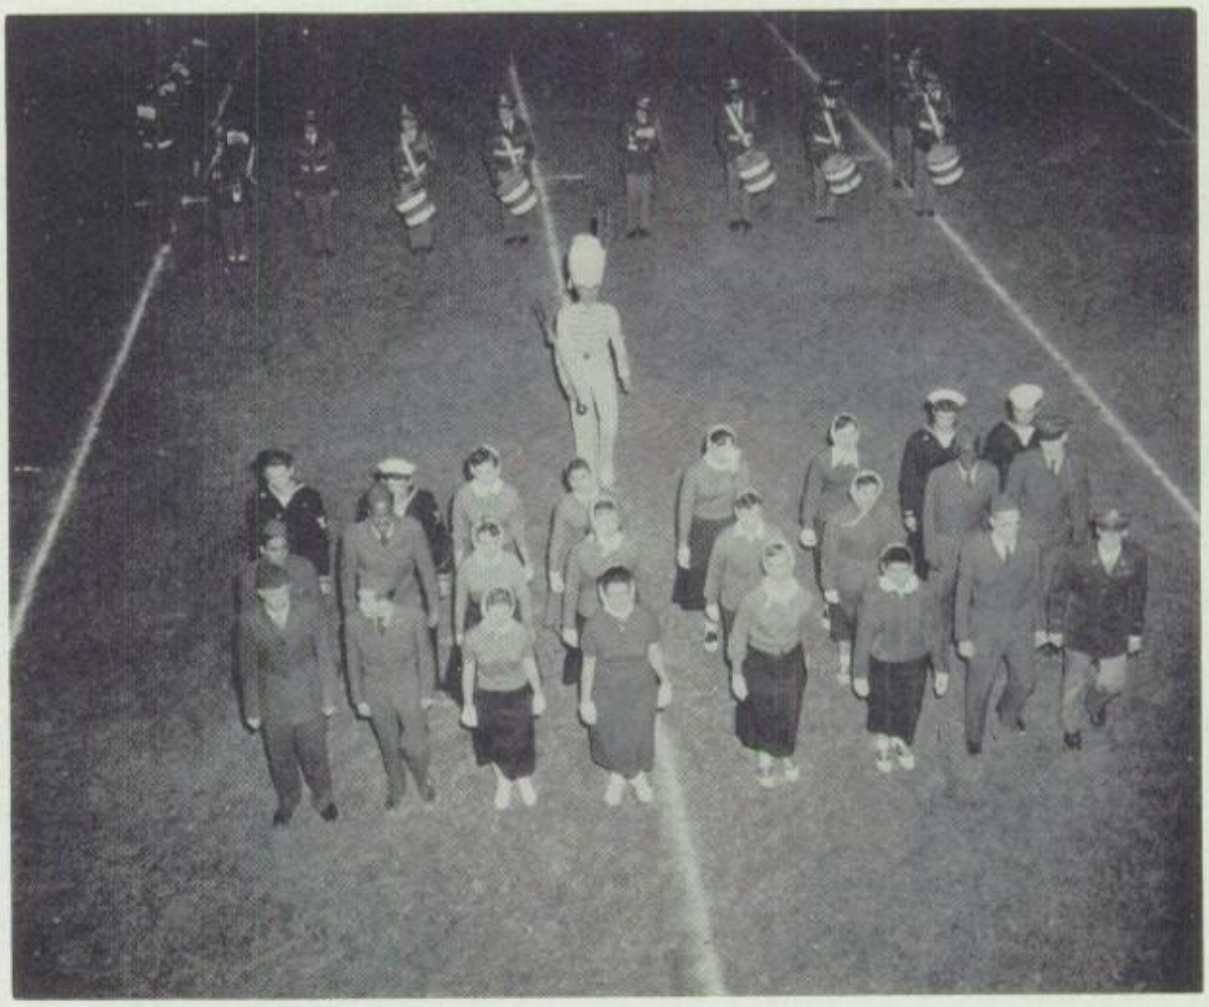


Len-lenta-lentamente, pronounces Sue Larsen, junior, in eighth hour Spanish class. Lentamente in Spanish means "slowly."



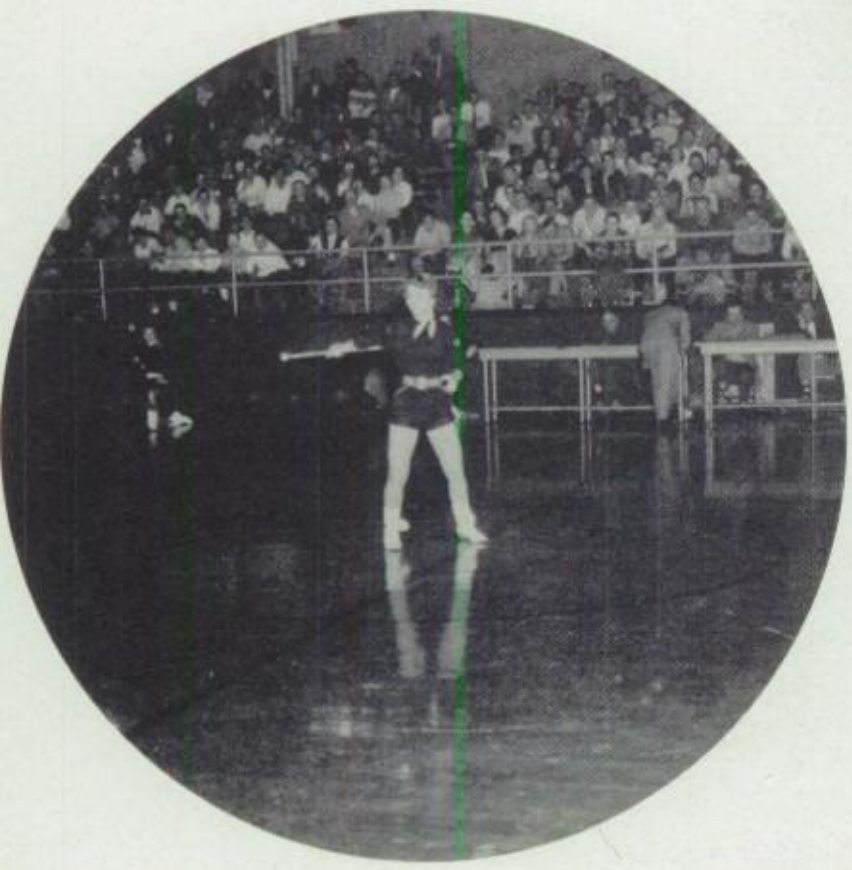
One-two-three-four, boys "relax" to rhythm in eighth hour gym class. These "burpies" are only one of many exercises performed.

HALF TIME ACTIVITIES



The parents of the football players had their "night out" when they were especially invited to one of Bloom's football games. Bloom students sing a welcome to the Mothers and Dads while stepping to the music of the band playing in the background.

Nine prancing baton twirlers "dress their line" before stepping out onto the floor for another half-time treat.



Barbara Malvestuto, new sophomore twirler on the squad, does a "solo" for the crowd.

Whether rain or shine, Bloom's flag twirlers and band carry out their duty faithfully. This duty, just as important as the biggest basketball game of the year, is to perform their skills between and during the halves of the basketball and football games. After watching their performances this year, all agree that Bloom talents are not entirely centered around athletics.

NEW EXPANSION

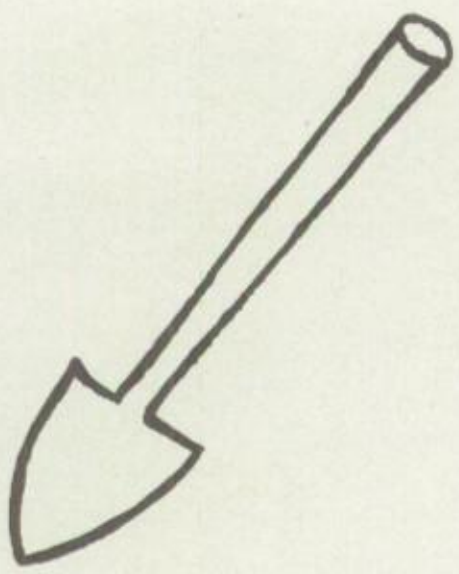
Members of the board and distinguished guests take turns in "spading up the earth" to make way for Bloom's new expansion. Manning the shovel is Mr. Harry Lange, president of the board.

Campaigning was the first step for Bloom's $3,700,000 expansion program, which began in the spring of 1955.

After the project was voted on and accepted by Bloom township residents, the bonds were put up for sale. Contracts were then let for the building, plumbing, and electrical jobs.

On February 6, 1956, nearly one year after the expansion was started, the first actual construction work began. A field house and art, music, and dramatics wing are to be completed by September, 1956. The entire project, including an auditorium, swimming pool, and new cafeteria, will be completed September, 1957.

To commemorate this occasion, a ceremony, which began at 9 a.m., was held. It was comprised of songs by the A Cappella Choir and speeches by Dr. H. H. Metcalf, superintendent, Mr. Harry Lange, school board president and other distinguished guests. Following this the ground was broken by the participants in the ceremony, which commenced the construction of Bloom's new expansion.



Dr. H. H. Metcalf, superintendent, is "digging for improvement."

Nancy Spuck, senior, has a peculiar expression on her face as she is served a "delicious" dinner at the Mother-Daughter banquet.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

Adrienne Zahler and Doris Nelson "clown around" during a skit at the Mother-Daughter banquet. Adrienne's hair-do is "dashing."

Lavish "oooooh's" and "ahhhhh's" were sported by three hundred senior girls as they proudly led their mothers into the cafeteria for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet. The banquet, which was held on Leap Day this year, February 29, tickled everyone's appetite with a delicious plate of roast turkey, cranberry sauce and dressing.

The theme, "Girl of My Dreams," was carried through even in the entertainment which centered around MOTHER. Soft, shell pink and silver was carried out in the decorations of modern mobiles and silhouettes. After the banquet was over, remarks could be heard to the effect that: "A good time was had by all."

Make-believe gypsy Barbara Hansen gives Penny Mack a preview of her future in the fortune telling booth at the Junior Penny Social.

JUNIOR PENNY SOCIAL

Going! Going! Gone! rings over the microphone as some ardent junior does his best to sell a "homemade" cake at the Junior Penny Social. Fish ponds, fortune tellers, basketball contests, flying saucers, "spook" houses, and penny-pitching events make the boys' gym look like a professional three-ring circus as well as earn some money for the junior class.

The students are under the close supervision of other "student policemen" who give tickets for such inexcusable abuses as talking and breathing. Fines are payable immediately! All in all, the Junior Penny Social affords a good time to everyone and is the big day for the junior class.

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS

Mr. Jepperson shows Fred Mascitti how to rewind an electric motor.

Bloom students are transformed into technicians, electricians, meat-cutters, dentist assistants, cabinet makers, and mechanics when they enroll in Diversified Occupations. These students work at their respective trade in a place of business outside of school for three hours. Some work from 7:30-10:30 in the morning before attending school, while others go to school part of the morning and then begin working at 12:30.

Besides learning and practicing their professions, the 32 students in Diversified Occupations receive a minimum pay every two weeks to the tune of 75c an hour. Two credits are also received.

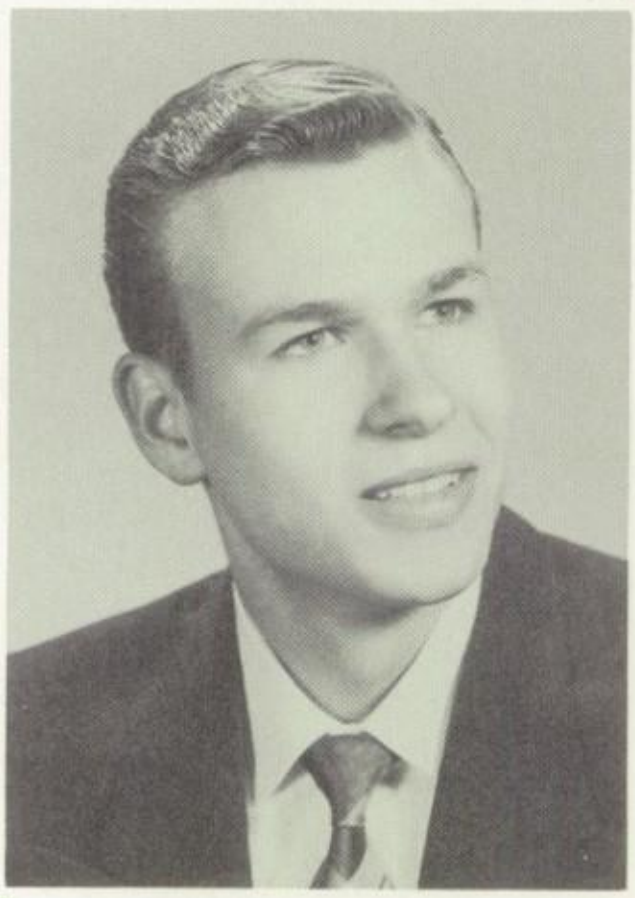
These work-while-you-learn students have third hour set aside each day for a Diversified Occupations class under the general supervision of Mr. John Prombo of the Industrial Education department. Grades are determined by the type of work they do in the business outside of school and also by their progress while under the supervision of Mr. Prombo.

Rodger Johnston learns how to fix an automobile engine from Mr. Babcock.

STUDENT EXECUTIVES

Tony Bartolini, commissioner of finance.

James Curcio, commissioner of public improvements.

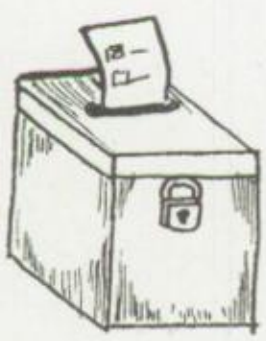


Edward Cialkowski, mayor.

Frank Carra, commissioner of social activities.

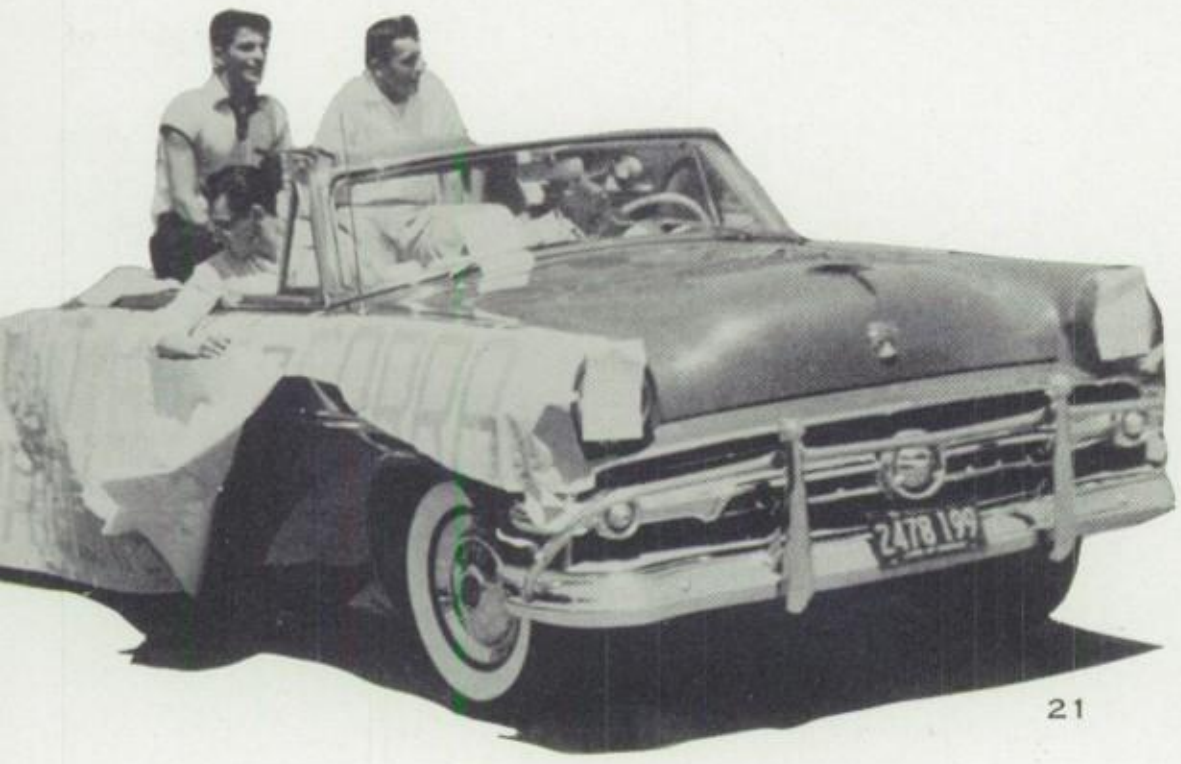
Bruce Hallmann, commissioner of public welfare.

Before elections, Bloom twirlers lead the colorful candidates parade.



ELECTIONS

First comes the painting parties and posters, then the parade, then the all important speeches; all these are a fraction of the big spring elections to decide the office of mayor and commissioners of the City of Bloom. It's an all-out affair and everyone is tense until the crucial time is over. Probable candidates start their campaigns early in the year, and each spring new and different ideas are uncovered to gain backers. Although it's a sad moment for the losers and their followers, soon everyone is at work planning next year's big election.



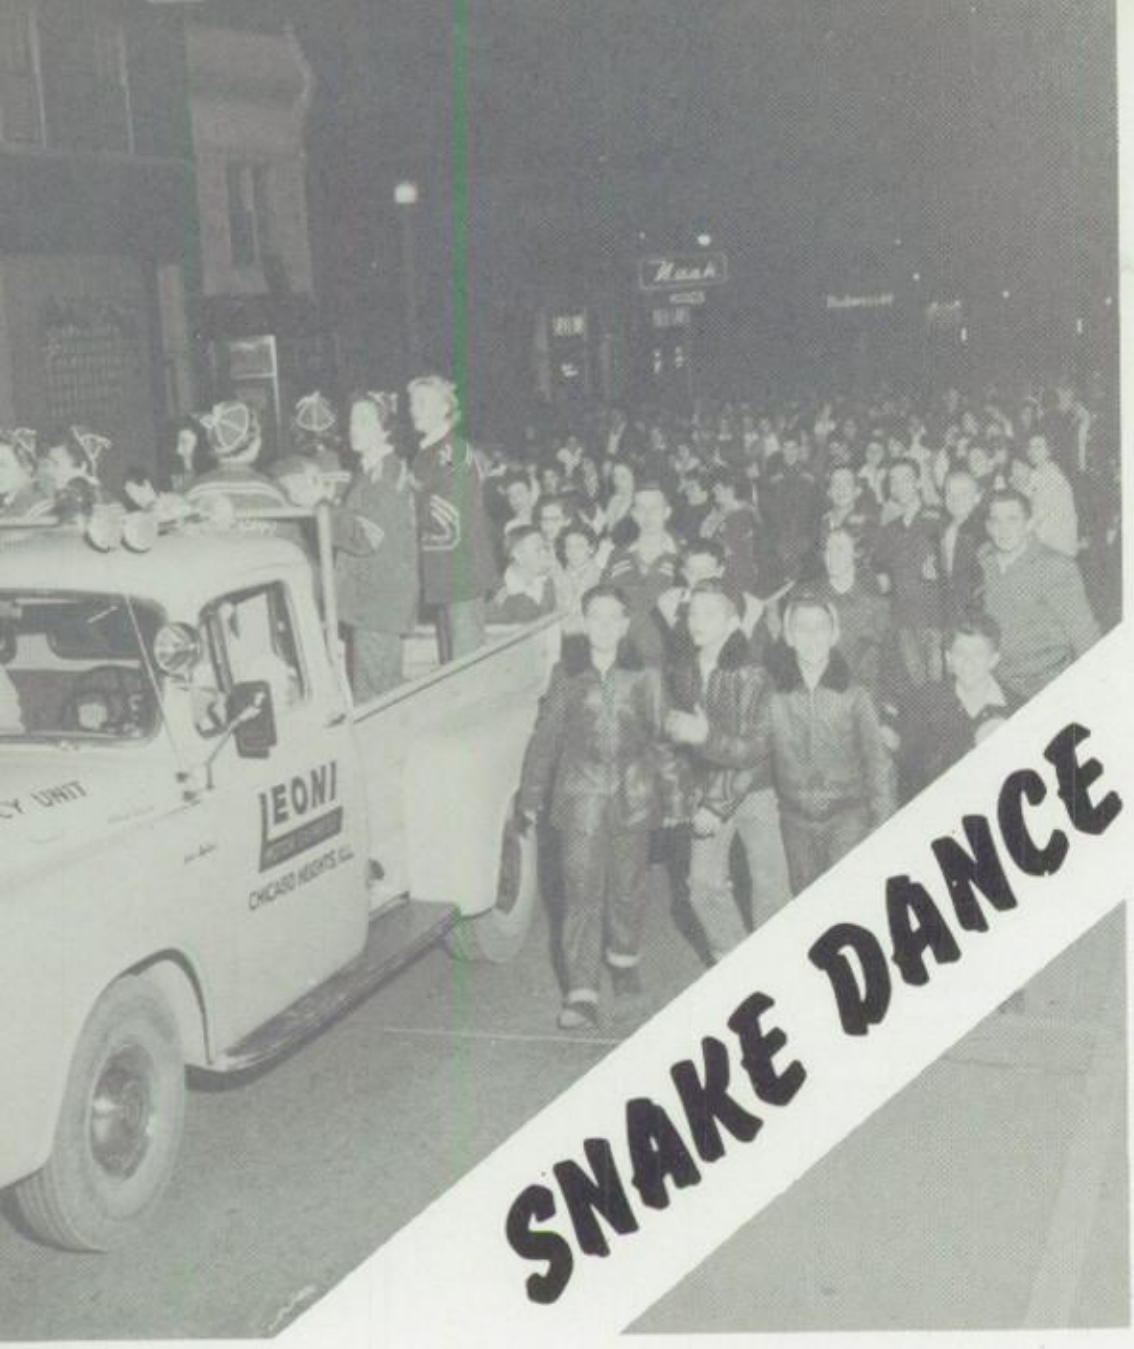
Prospective candidates for Bloom commissioners meet the "voters" in a pre-election parade.

The Homecoming Court: Bruce Hallmann, Mary Niblock, Joan Boyd, Tom Smith, Barbara Persianni, Roy Wiley.

HOMECOMING DANCE

In the shadow of yonder castle, strains of the majestic music of Sir Buddy Rogers' band summoned chivalrous knights and their fair ladies to the Medieval Cotillion. Old acquaintanceships with the visiting alumni were resumed as they danced and reminisced beneath the soft golden lights. Highlights of the evening were the Grand March and the coronation of King Tom Smith and Queen Joan Boyd. As the music died away and the couples rode off to their respective castles, all vowed that it had been a magnificent Homecoming.

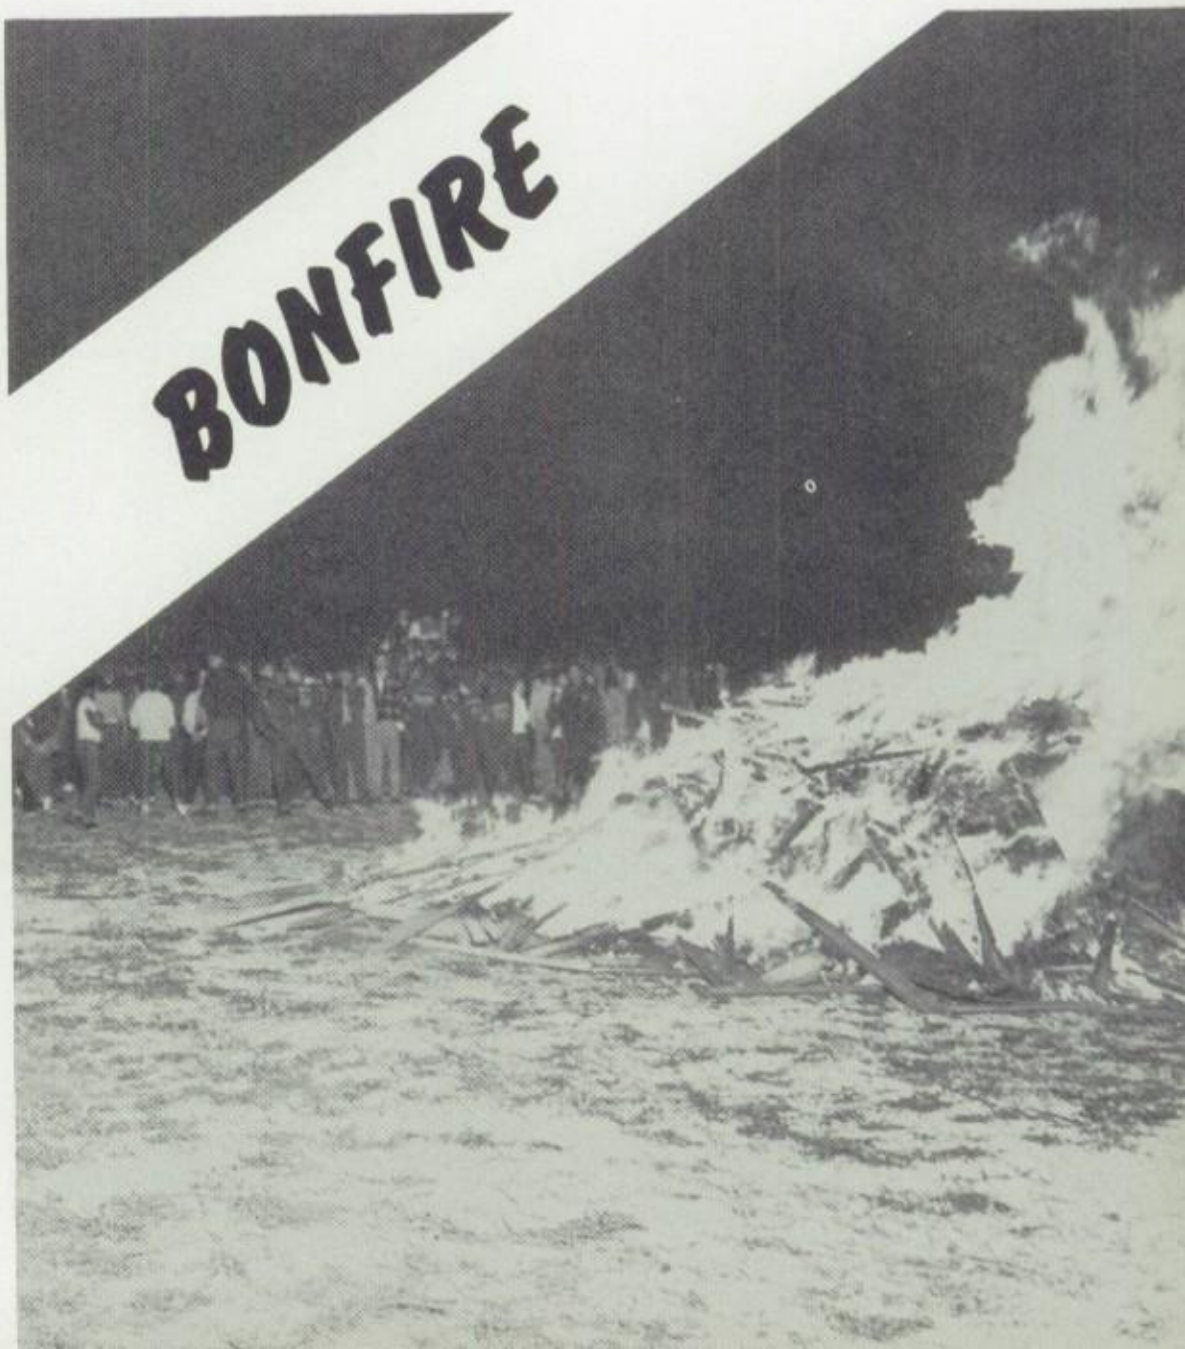
The knights and their ladies sway to the heavenly music of Sir Buddy Rogers' band at the Medieval Cotillion.



SNAKE DANCE

"Go, Bloom, beat Thornton!" was the cry which rang out as Bloom students wove through the streets of Chicago Heights. The occasion was the annual snake dance which traditionally precedes the Bloom-Thornton football game. Poised atop a truck, the cheerleaders led the enthusiastic Bloomites in victory cheers. The blazing bonfire, also an annual event, took place on the high school's parking lot after the snake dance. As the last embers of the bonfire slowly died, the students departed, confident that their team would achieve a victory over their biggest rivals the following night.

BONFIRE



After winning the second straight game from the Argonauts, the football enthusiasts from Bloom flocked to the annual Get-Acquainted Dance. Not only freshies, but a majority of upperclassmen attended, hoping to "get acquainted with the fella that sat behind them in English or the gal whose locker was next to theirs." Music for the evening was supplied by Henri Buttell's band.

Get Acquainted . . DANCE . . Blue-White

"Shake, rattle, and roll . . ."

The school colors are gaily sported by jitterbugging students who filled the gym at the annual Blue and White dance. After a crushing victory against Blue Island, the jubilant students danced 'til midnight. . . .

The hour of twelve came all too soon.

Dorleen Bacik, Patricia DiMascio, and Judy Kunde make a colorful trio as they dance during the Senior class assembly.

With the "blues" spirit bursting forth as evidenced in her expression, Jackie Rotondi sings "Cry Me a River," at the same event.

SENIOR ASSEMBLY

While holding his Oscar for favorite "male-vocalist" during the "Academy Awards," Jim Bory croons to the tune of "Suddenly There's a Valley."

After spending much time and energy the seniors presented their interpretation of the Academy Awards in their assembly. Various stage and screen personalities were imitated by talented seniors. Pete Klinger's portrayal of Liberace was especially entertaining. A group of seniors posed as Hollywood celebrities and served as the staged audience for this occasion.

No, it's not George! Liberace? Well—Pete Klinger does his best to convince the students that it is Liberace. Too bad this isn't a color shot. The multi-colored candles are dazzling!

Patricia DeLorenzo, Magdelene Foushi, Arlene Bogacz, and Janiene Chenard skip lightly in their Scottish dress to the tune of "My Bonnie Lassie" during the Junior class assembly.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY

Saint Peter and his angels were honored guests as the junior class presented "Rock and Roll to Heaven with the Class of '57," at an all-school assembly December 9. A group of highland lasses twirled their kilts to "My Bonnie Lassie," while a purely American rendition of "Rock-a-Beatin'-Boogie" was beat out by pink and black clad juniors. A hillbilly parody of "Yellow Rose of Texas" provided comic relief, while the Aragoosa County Boys enlightened students about the birds and the bees in "Man Phiba." With such dreamy music, the assembly was destined to be applauded as "heavenly, simply heavenly!"

Cynthia Walsh, Rosalind Napoleon, and Stephanie Harte enthusiastically act out the story of the mamma, pappa, and wee bear, while singing to the tune of the "Three Wee Bears."

CAREER DAY

Front Row: C. Froncek, T. Bartolini, B. Nietzel, M. Brown, J. Curcio.

"What would I like to be?" heads the list of questions confronting the average high school student. Career Day at Bloom affords that student an opportunity to learn more about the type of work he is considering.

Each student, excluding freshmen, signs up for two conferences of his choice, after choosing from a list of 90 different occupations and professions, ranging from nuclear engineering to pattern-making. The speaker of each conference session has been invited by the school officials and has been selected as one competent to lecture on his respective career. He speaks to the students following an outline they prepared on the advantages, disadvantages, training, and service of his vocation. Later a question and answer period follows.

The freshmen spend the greater part of Career Day in vocational testing, while the seniors have the option of going on a field trip or attending a conference session.

Career Day, under the general supervision of Mr. Harold Schneider, assisted by 27 teachers on committees and 210 students, sheds new light on many careers and makes a significant contribution, which can be measured only over many years through the lives of Bloom students.

ASSEMBLIES

"Rootin-tootin" Jo LoDato leads the student body in a cheer for the Trojans. On the right is Leola Harnett, captain of the cheerleaders.

The "Singing Hoosiers" from Indiana entertain students with numerous song selections.

Members of the Deep River Quartet stomp at the "Savoy," while entertaining the students at a split assembly.

Bloom students never know what they're in for when an "extra" assembly is given in the boys' gym. Sometimes they are entertained by "jazz" singers, or maybe the exciting works of Edgar Allan Poe are portrayed. The pep assemblies do their part in strengthening the school spirit and in giving the students a chance to cheer for victory. All in all—the assemblies at Bloom provide a needed break in the school day and are often educational, too.

Sporting formal attire, the "Singing Hoosiers" add a professional touch to the assembly.

EAVEN"

Hartzell and Eileen Spence, alias Tom Smith and Ann Weber, "cut-a-rug" 1910 style during the Senior Class Play, presented at the Washington School auditorium.

With its best foot forward, clad in long black stockings and high-button shoes, of course, the senior class presented "One Foot in Heaven." The factual three-act comedy by Hartzell Spence, dramatized by Anne Coulter Martens, revolved around the hilarious happenings and heartaches of Reverend Spence's family when they moved into the dilapidated parsonage in Laketon, Iowa.

Under the direction of Mr. David Briggs, the cast and crew scoured attics and basements for 1910 style attire and furnishings. After six weeks of late practice and cold suppers building up to a successful three night run, the weary but happy seniors left the leaking Laketon parsonage for a party at the more formidable one of Jon "Reverend Spence" Vondracek.

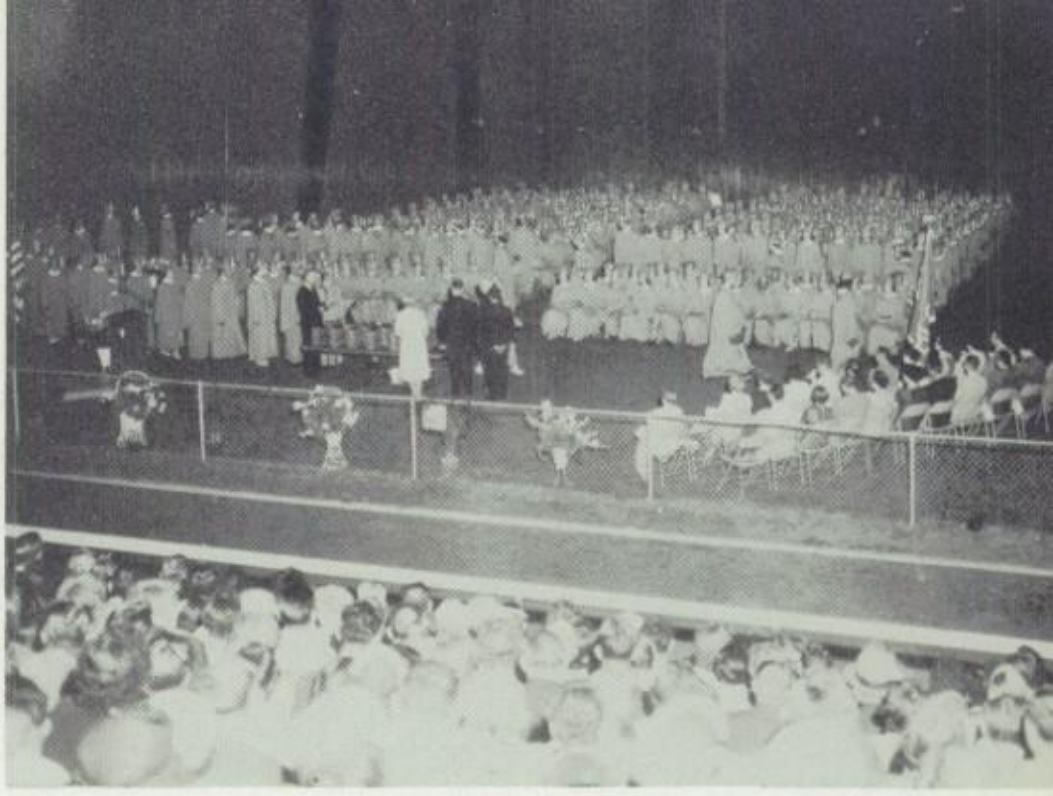
PINK NOCTURNE

She looked beautiful in her dress she had dreamed about for months. He was handsome in his very first tux. They were both excited, filled with a little anxiety, but happy.

Everyone at the dance was transformed—every girl was a lady—every boy, a knight. Was it the decorations? Was it the music? Yes, but most of all it was because of the wonderful way everyone felt inside.

Too soon it was over. He walked her to the door when they reached her home, but the night did not really end then; it was lived many times over in memories—Pink Nocturne, the Junior-Senior Prom of 1955.

GRADUATION



Junior class officers Joan Boyd and Ann Weber usher seniors to their places during the processional preceding the commencement exercises last June on Memorial Field.

Memories, memories . . . How they came pushing their way into the minds of Bloom Seniors as they marched down the aisle to receive their diplomas.

Some students remembered how sore their throats became when they lustily cheered at the games. Others recalled the long hours spent working on the school paper or on decorations for an important dance. Still others thought of the friends they would leave behind and tears were often seen in the eyes of those who harbored recollections.

There were students who received their diplomas regretfully, but then there were those who accepted it almost eagerly for the unknown was ahead — the future.

Dr. Paul Ashley, a member of the Board of Education, presents her diploma to his daughter Janet, as another board member, Mr. Charles Baker, looks on.

Victory! is the familiar cry which can be heard echoing from the throngs of enthusiastic Bloom sports-followers. Spurred on by this loyal school spirit, Bloom sportsmen not only attempt to bring home the victory cup for their school, but also strive to strengthen their individual skill and at the same time to display the finest of sportsmanship. This spirit has always been characteristic of the athletes as well as the students of BTHS.

The Trojans played an outstanding brand of football this season, even though their record of four wins and five losses doesn't seem very impressive.

Although they lost their first two games of the year to a red-hot Evanston eleven 19-6 and to the Tomcats of East Aurora 26-12, the Trojans rebounded to win their next contest with Thornton Fractional 19-6. Bloom also whipped the Argonauts of Argo 28-6 in the best game the Varsity had played up to that time.

In the next game the Flyers of East St. Louis, one of the best teams in the state, proved to be too tough for the Trojans as they defeated Bloom 33-14.

The Trojans' big win of the season came against the Wildcats of Harvey, when the Sarffmen handed Thornton a 24-6 drubbing. This was the first time that Bloom had defeated Thornton on the gridiron in four years.

Jim McDonnell, junior, proved to be the big gun of the season as he led the league in scoring with 55 points.

FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL

FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL

The 1955 Frosh-Soph gridders, under Coach Nick Colbrese, ran roughshod over all South Suburban League opponents to cop the conference crown with flying colors. Although they lost their opener, the Tiny Trojans rebounded with six straight wins in League competition.

The only setback of the season was to a powerful Evanston eleven 32-7. The next contest, however, was a different story as the Frosh-Soph gridders romped over East Aurora 20-13. Next, the Tiny Trojans journeyed to Calumet City, where TDs by Jim Foster and Homer Thurman sparkplugged the squad to a 14-6 victory.

Another win was the contest with Argo, in which the Trojans slaughtered the Argonauts 53-6. The Tiny Trojans were led by hard-driving Jim Foster, who scored six TDs, and by Freshman Butch Pearson on defense.

The big win of the season was the thumping the Tiny Trojans gave second place Thornton 21-12. The Frosh-Soph gridders wound up their victorious season with a 26-7 conquest of Leyden, which clinched the South Suburban League crown.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Unscored upon and unbeaten in six straight games, the Tiniest Trojans rollicked to a South Suburban league football crown for the second year in a row.

Under Coaches Frank Buchtel, Ed Clark, and Bob Castater the Bantam Trojans were in tip-top shape for their first game of the season in which they triumphed over Leyden 7-0. Next the Bantam Trojans traveled to Thornton Fractional to shellac them 30-0.

The rest of the season was the same story with triumphs over such strong teams as East Kankakee, Blue Island, and Argo. The clincher of the South Suburban crown was the last game of the season, when the Tiny Trojans overpowered rival Thornton 14-0 in the only home game.

This year's Freshman football team, after having taken the South Suburban League championship with a 6-0 record, will certainly give teams in the future something to work for.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's cross country squad faced stronger competition this season than in any previous year.

The harriers compiled an over-all dual meet record of three wins and five losses and came in fourth at both the Bloom Invitational and District meets.

The Varsity, under Coach Ralph Steben, lost its first three meets of the season to Oak Park, Hinsdale, and Glenbard, but in the next dual meet the Stebenmen found themselves by clobbering Joliet 19-42. The big test of the season was the second Bloom Invitational, which was dominated by a powerful Englewood team. In this meet Bloom placed fourth, led by speedster Larry Spann, who in a field of 70 runners set a new course record of 10:13.

Another big win was the victory over the defending state champion, Proviso, 18-38. Pacesetters in this meet were Larry Spann, Nick Thomas, Andrew Johnson, and Chico Kennedy. Larry "speedy" Spann again qualified for downstate in the District meet by finishing third.

Aldo Ambrosini, senior harrier, crosses the tape to score against Reavis.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Three more trophies were added to Bloom's growing collection this season as the tallest Trojans rocketed their way to Conference, Regional, and Sectional championships. Led by captain Grady McCollum, the human pogo stick, the Trojans trampled any and all opponents, until they were halted in a heartbreaking game with Oak Park, 62-57, during Sweet Sixteen tournament play—the farthest Bloom has gone since 1940.

The Mooremen finished the regular South Suburban Conference schedule with a 12-2 record, after winning an exciting tie-breaking game with their perennial rivals, the Wildcats of Thornton.

On February 29, the Trojans entered Regional Tournament competition at Bradley, and pounded St. Patrick 77-43. The following night they beat St. Anne 78-50. They went on to cop the Regional crown from a disheartened Kankakee team by another phenomenal score of 87-60 on Friday night.

On March 7 and 9, the Mooremen advanced to the Sectional tournies at Kankakee, overwhelming Normal 64-61 and Pontiac 68-60, winning top honors in Sectional play and stretching their winning streak to 13 games.

According to the odds-makers, Bloom is really the team to watch next year, since the only two senior squadmen were Grady McCollum and Steve Stritar. Mainstays this year were juniors Jerry Colangelo, Paul Goebel, Bobby Bell, Bob Tewes, and Chuck Green, sophomore, and Homer Thurman, freshman, who were brought up from Frosh-Soph ball in mid-season by Coach Bert Moore.

FROSH SOPH BASKETBALL

The Frosh-Soph cagers in the capable hands of Coach Bob Rehberg earned a second-place berth in the South Suburban Conference by virtue of their 11-3 league mark. The over-all season showed the Little Trojans victorious in 16 of 20 encounters.

Double victories were gained over Blue Island, Argo, Kankakee, Lockport and Fractional. The Frosh-Soph hoopsters' only split was with Thornton of Harvey, in which they won the first start with the Wildcats 48-35 here but dropped the second 56-53 in the Cats' den.

The only team to top the Trojans twice was the Eagles from Leyden.

High-scoring honors for the Little Trojans went to Willie White. Jim Hunter, John Block and Alan Konetzki were other sophomore mainstays.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Our tiniest Trojans, under Coach Nick Colbrese, were undaunted by a lack of height, for they were victorious in 15 of their 17 starts. The Freshmen, sparked by excellent ball handling and shooting, lost only to the tough Joliet and West Kankakee quintets. Blue Island, Thornton Fractional, and the rival Wildcats of Thornton each fell twice before the Trojan onslaught.

Coach Colbrese's yearlings were victorious over Glenwood 68-26 and Blue Island 46-29 in their first two contests, but they were decisioned in their third game by a strong Joliet ball club 41-37. The littlest Trojans lost only one other contest during the remainder of the season.

The Freshmen were led by Roger Elliot, guard; John Persiani, center; Jerry Vickery, forward; Howard Perkins, forward; and Dennis Brislen, guard. Garry Vickery was the team's leading substitute, while his identical twin brother Jerry was the leading scorer for the year.

The Colbrese lads have the makings of an excellent future Bloom team, and they should go a long way as a Frosh-Soph ball club.

Coach Cecil Sarff's varsity matmen tumbled their way to an 8 win 3 loss season this year, a solid improvement over previous efforts. Credit for the season's success goes mostly to returning lettermen Bob Behm, heavyweight; Wally Nykaza, 145; Hank Junge, 175; Rudolph Jones, 112; Carl Reeves, 120; Norman Mack, 154; Pete Resedean, 127; and Bob Seely, 127.

The grapplers opened the season with two victories over Thornton and Leyden, but they were upset by Joliet. After suffering two more losses to Blue Island and Reavis, the mat crew grabbed five straight from Lockport, Thornton Fractional, Bremen, Calumet, and Carl Sandburg.

Bloom placed fourth in a field of 13 teams at the Bremen sectional wrestling tournament. Coach Sarff's boys collected 61 points to fall behind Thornton, Joliet, and Blue Island. Rudy Jones, Carl Reeves, and Wally Nykaza qualified for the state tourney at Proviso.

Coach Bert Moore's 1955 spikemen finished the season with a seven win, three loss, and one tie record to capture again the South Suburban Conference crown. Bloom licked both perennial rivals — Rich, 9-1, and Thornton, 4-3. The one and only tie of the season occurred when the Leyden contest was halted at 5-5 because of darkness.

Returning to this year's lineup were former lettermen Howard Johnson and Jerry Colangelo, pitchers; John Flagda and Jack Wood, catchers; Rich Demith and Bruce Hallmann, outfield; Bob DeBolt, Joe Constabile, Jerry Cortez, Dave Leahy, and Don Lauer, infield. However, new blood was added which greatly bolstered the Trojan squad.

CONFERENCE GAME
Won 9 Lost 0

The 1955 Frosh-Soph ball hawks finished the season with a phenomenal conference record of nine wins and no losses to take a long awaited South Suburban Conference crown.

During the campaign, under the leadership of Coaches Fred Jacobeit and Don Thomas, the bantam Trojans literally pounded their first two opponents into the ground—beating Thornton Fractional, 9-2 and Leyden, 14-4. The highlights of the season were their victories over the rival Thornton Wildkits, 8-3, and the strong Blue Island team, 4-3.

Sophomores who advanced to bolster the Varsity ball club this season were Davy Leahy, Richard DeMith, Don Lauer, Jerry Colangelo, Bob Duncan, Bob DeBolt, Jack Barton, and Bob Schultz.

Returning Freshmen were Chuck Green, Alan Konetzki, Byron Conant, Jerry Modzelewski, and John Block.

Fred Macklin demonstrates his broad-jumping abilities with a powerful leap.

Our varsity cindermen of 1955 had one of the winningest seasons in Bloom track history as they romped to wins over such perennially strong contenders as Blue Island, Lyons, Thornton, and Proviso. Bloom competed in the Mooseheart Relays in which no team score was kept.

The Trojans, led by high point men Jim Curcio in the high hurdles, Vic Carlson in the shotput, and Al Persiani in the pole vault were able to overcome all contenders to win both Conference and District championships. Other tracksters who bolstered the team were distance stars Larry Spann and Bob Green, high jumper Leroy Jackson, and Starling Jenkins in the 100-yard dash.

SOUTH SUBURBAN CONFERENCE

Bloom ..... First Place

Again this year Coach Ralph Steben's Frosh-Soph cindermen fought their way to an undisputed and undefeated conference title. The Trojans defeated all contenders by extraordinarily wide point margins — 99-19, 85-24, etc. This is the third year in a row that the tracksters have copped the South Suburban crown.

High point men for the season were Bobby Thompson, 120-yard high hurdles and high jump; Steve Gereg, mile run; Bob Boling, shot put and discus throw; Rich Bettenhousen, discus throw; Willie White, high jump; and Keith Roesner, pole vault.

GOLF

Bloom's newest member of the inter-scholastic sport program has followed the fine Trojan tradition of excelling over all other schools in competitive sports. The linkmen, under the leadership of Mr. John Prombo, challenged and met any and all competition throughout the South Suburban area and were beaten only once in fourteen starts.

The Trojans began their link season by beating a strong Leyden squad 8½-6½ and conquering our rivals from Harvey, 12½-2½. The rest of the season was the same story as the Trojans were victorious time after time. The only defeat of the season was at the hands of Leyden, 8-7.

Graduating golfers were Santo LaCorte, Buzz Baker, Mickey Sundstrom, Bill Taylor, and Marv Raney, while returning letter winners are Doug Rosmis, who had low round for the season of 68 in the District meet, Tommy Smith, George Dengler, Bob Austin, and Jack Meidel.

GIRLS SPORTS

Ruby Jean Kudlaty, Miss Mavis Conlee, Miss Judith Connolly, Jackie Rotondi, Miss Liela Veazey, Pat DiMascio, Miss Helen Becker, Dorothy Hodges.

"Get that bird!" "Right over the net!" "Don't let it get away!"

No, these aren't the cries of amateur bird catchers, they are just a few of the noises which escape the girls' gym during daily classes, and during G.A.A. meetings after school on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Under the leadership of Jackie Rotondi, president; Pat DiMascio, veep; Dorothy Hodges, secretary; and Ruby Kudlaty, treasurer, the members of the Girls Athletic Association participated in badminton, basketball, volleyball, and baseball this year. The groups were sponsored by the head of the physical education department, Miss Liela Veazey, and the physical ed. staff consisting of Miss Helen Becker, Miss Mavis Conlee, and Miss Judith Connolly.

Judith Runyan receives her membership card in G.A.A. from Ruby Kudlaty, as Dorothy Smardack and Joyce Moellering wait their turn.

C. Strandberg and G. Trevino pitch strikes.

With 80 senior girl bowlers making up two separate bowling leagues at the Bowl-Aire lanes, Miss Judith Connolly, instructor, was pleasantly rewarded for her efforts in developing potential "June Kristoffs." Though no trophies were awarded for high scores, the personal satisfaction was great in the individual accomplishment of a strike, a spare, or a high game. The number of applicants for the league compelled breaking the league into four and five o'clock starting times, and necessitated the organization of a third league composed of junior girls. The club, open to all juniors, rolled at the 20th Century Lanes. Teams were equalized on the basis of individual averages. Miss Mavis Conlee deftly and skillfully coached the six junior Bowling teams.

With knees bent, J. Harvey receives a pass while S. Jansen, C. Hansen, M. Craft, and C. Forsberg look on.

VOLLEY BALL

"SET 'EM UP! RECEIVE AND PASS!" These are familiar words to any Bloom girl who has attempted to return a volleyball under the watchful eye of an instructor. Not only is the sport taught in all girls' gym classes, but also in G.A.A. the girls have team competition. Without the patience and aid of all the gym teachers, there would be quite a few sore fingers and feelings.

GOLF

FORE!! Come spring the fairways (and Bloom's athletic field) will hear the shrill cry of women's voices as the newly formed Girls' Golf groups will polish up on their driving techniques.

The members are divided into two groups—beginners and advanced. While Miss Mavis Conlee instructs the beginners on the proper backswing and follow-through, the advanced members practice on their own time and report their scores for nine holes of play. Open to anyone—the club hopes to continue yearly.

M. Kiddoo demonstrates the backswing to B. Conant, C. Mann, and B. Beckett.

Can you imagine a hundred and fifty ants milling around within the small confines of a matchbox? This would be about as confusing as each gym period, were it not for the basketroom girls who hunted baskets for the gym classes each day. Thanks to these girls who volunteered to give up their study halls to pass out the baskets for the gym classes, the time of our preparations and the confusion was lessened considerably.

"Let's use two hands on that ball!" No, it wasn't always the teachers who admonished the students. The physical education department had class helpers who aided during class periods. The junior or senior girls were chosen by the department on the basis of their ability and interest in physical education and leadership qualities, and assisted in taking roll, demonstrating techniques, and other various duties.

It took more than teams to keep Bloom's spirit high this year. It took the cheerleaders who boosted audience and team morale at the games. The squad led the cheers at pep assemblies and all football and basketball games, including the regional, sectional, and supersectional basketball tournaments.

This year captain Leola Harnett called the cheers for Joan Zeman, Virginia Willis, Rosalind Napoleon, and Jo LoDato. The cheerleaders are under the supervision of the girls physical education department, whose head, Miss Liela Veazey, worked continually through the summer and the school year to make our cheerleading squad an outstanding one. Many months of practice went into the perfection of their routines. All Bloomites thank the squad and especially Miss Veazey who guided, taught, and supervised the cheerleaders' activities.

ARCHERY

Outbowing 36 competitive schools, for the sixth straight year, Bloom township high school's 5 archerettes have taken first place in the Illinois State Postal Archery Tournament. Ever since 1950, Bloom has successfully beaten all other entries in the state-wide contest to emerge victorious. The rules are stiff and so is the competition. The girls must shoot out of doors and use the Junior Scholastic Round which means they shoot at a 48 inch target with 24 arrows from 30 yards and 24 arrows from 20 yards.

The saying goes that "practice makes perfect." This was amply proved on October 10th, when after weeks of arduous work and practice the top 5 of Bloom's entries shot a record smashing total of 1,646 points to cop first place in the state.

Scoring 25 bull's eyes out of a possible 48, Jan Mager led the straight shooters with a high individual score of 362. Close behind were Mary Ann Klein with 338, Barbara Jacobs with 328, Judith Kosciolek with 328, and Carolyn Julian with a 290.

Miss Liela Veazey, team coach, instructress, and Bloom's expert archer, worked diligently and gave all the girls the invinsibility of spirit and sharpness which once again produced the top archery squad in the state.

From Top to Bottom: Jan Mager demonstrates the form that won her first place in the tournament. Mary Ann Klein, second place, "nocks" her arm. Barbara Jacobs, third place winner, begins to draw her bow. Judith Kosciolek, fourth place, selects her arrow. Shown "stringing" her bow is Carolyn Julian, fifth place.

The numerous extra-curricular activities which are offered to every Bloom student were organized and developed for the sole purpose of helping that student find his place in the whirl of Bloom fun. At 3:20 it's "good-bye" school and "hello" fun!

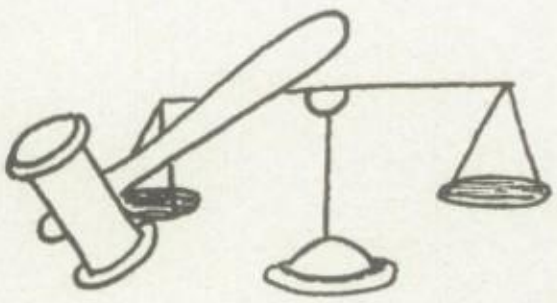
EXECUTIVE COUNCIL AND OFFICERS—Standing: Mr. Clayton Smith, Mr. Frank Buchtel, Mr. David Briggs, Dr. Harold Metcalf, Mr. Alexander Feldvebel, Mr. Samuel Paravonian, Miss Ellen Chapman, Mr. Alfred Odegard. Seated: Jim Curcio, Commissioner of Public Improvements; Frank Carra, Commissioner of Social Activities; Eddie Cialkowski, Mayor of the City of Bloom; Harlene Hatch, Clerk of the City of Bloom; Bruce Hallmann, Commissioner of Public Welfare; Tony Bartolini, Commissioner of Finance.



". . . to promote cooperation with the Board of Education and the faculty of our school, to provide for the common welfare, and to secure the highest possible good to ourselves and to our successor," this is the objective of the City of Bloom as upheld through student government.

Every student is a citizen of this democratic city, and helps elect a mayor and four commissioners to preside over the two governing bodies. Popularly-elected representatives from the home rooms and organizations compose the student council, while faculty members make up the corresponding executive council judging the worth of student proposals.

"All-school" dances and assemblies, welfare drives, and traffic control are but a few of their endeavors.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The highest honor bestowed by the school on its scholars is election to the National Honor Society. The organization strives to develop the four dimensions of life — outstanding Leadership qualities, good Character, enthusiasm for Scholarship, and a desire to render Service.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Edna North, an impressive ceremony was held April 15, in which the twenty-two old members initiated twenty-one juniors with 3.5 grade averages and forty-one seniors with 3.0 averages.

Officers for the year were Thomas Carter, President; Victor Buonadona, Vice-President; Janice Mager, Secretary; and Germaine Passarelli, Treasurer.

PUBLICATIONS STAFFS WORK LIKE

ANNUAL STAFF

The haggard students you see pictured on this page are the ardent workers who write the material you are reading at this very moment. Every word, every picture in the BLOOM has passed under the close scrutiny of the annual staff. To take care of the tremendous amount of work needed, the eighth period of every day is devoted to the yearbook.

Unlike the BROADCASTER, the annual staff has but three deadlines — usually December, February, and March 15. Although Miss House, the sponsor, is sometimes forced to tear her hair, the deadlines are met and the BLOOM goes to press.

Seated: A. Weber, D. Cohler, B. Carrier, D. Hart. Standing: D. Salans, S. Helmrath, B. Crowson, C. Blaszczyk, V. Roll, B. Bouton.

BROADCASTER STAFF

Deadlines, bylines, Spartan bold—meaningless terms to the average newspaper reader, but to the members of the BROADCASTER staff each of these expressions has a separate, important meaning. The BROADCASTER, school newspaper, is the product of the skills of some of BLOOM'S best writers.

Besides devoting every 7th period to the task of writing copy, etc., BROADCASTER and ANNUAL staff members attended several meetings and workshops sponsored by the Chicago Scholastic Press Guild and the Illinois High School Press Association (IHSPA).

TOWER STAFF

Poems, essays, book reports, stories—all found their way from English and Creative Writing classes into the hands of the critical and competent Tower Staff. Under the auspices of Mr. Robert Gard, and co-editors Camille Blaszczyk and Sue Hutton, the material was read and re-read and read again to find the cream-of-the-crop. After type faces and cover designs were decided upon, the magazine went to press, and it wasn't long until interested Bloomites had their noses between the covers.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The symbolic quill of the honorary journalistic society, Quill and Scroll, is, as the saying goes, "mightier than the sword." The students who comprise this organization must have been in the upper third of either the junior or senior class and must have done superior work on the Annual, the Broadcaster, or the Tower.

These hopeful journalists have learned and practiced the by-words of TRUTH: to record reality, not prejudice; LOYALTY: to respect the publication and one's duty to it; INITIATIVE: to seek and to find the real story; OPPORTUNITY: to use free speech for freedom; FRIENDSHIP: to create lasting world brotherhood; LEADERSHIP: to guide others in the right direction; and, ENLIGHTENMENT: to make all aware of the facts.

A great deal of time and effort is involved in the different publications at Bloom, and thus the Quill and Scroll is a tribute and an honor to those who belong.

President Argia Jacobucci shows Barbara Alexander and Bernice Jones how to pack the Red Cross Christmas gift boxes.

GIRLS LEAGUE

No boys here—but the doors of membership to the Girls League are open to all Bloom's female set from freshmen on up. Being more than a club, the League is organized with the purpose of promoting a spirit of friendliness and co-operation among the girls.

From freshman day in September to an induction ceremony toward the end of the school year, the activities are many and varied, offering everyone a chance to join in the fun.

Representatives and alternates are elected in the homerooms to attend the formal meetings. Under the guidance of Miss Ora Theobald and Miss Eveline Callender, the active gals sponsored a Freshman Frolic where the senior "Big Sisters" made the freshies feel at home, the decoration of the school Christmas tree, and a spring tea.

On February 29, each of the senior girls paid special tribute to her "Dream Girl" at the 22nd annual Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Put your right hand in—The gals do the Hokey-Pokey.

ROMA PARVA

Roma Parva, which means "Little Rome," is a club comprised of first-year Latin students. Under the sponsorship of Miss Betty Keoughan. the members acquaint themselves with the language and customs of our long lost ancestors. Roma Parva has also had a major role in the all-language club Christmas party and in the Roman Banquet, held this spring.

ROMANI HODIERNI

Lictors Bryan Davis and Salvatore Marzo hold "fasces," symbols of the power of life and death supposedly possessed by the club's officials Judy Laurie, Karen Long, Diane Salans, and Gale Behrens.

Julius Caesar was said to be the noblest Roman of them all; but many advanced Latin students are attempting to be "noble Romans" through their activities in the advanced Latin Club, Romani Hodierni. Translated, Romani Hodierni means "Roman Citizens."

The highlight of the club's activities is the Roman Banquet, held every year in the spring. The members stage an imitation Roman feast (although they are usually served hamburgers) and present a program of after dinner speeches.

LOS COMPANEROS

SPANISH CLUB

"Bien venidos los compañeros!" Welcome, friends —this is the good-will motto of the Spanish Club, Los Compañeros. All señors and señoritas who have taken or are taking Spanish can participate in this active organization. Under the sponsorship of Miss Harriet Strauss, customs of many Spanish speaking countries are studied, and a Christmas party is planned annually.

Last December, with the aid of the Junior Red Cross, the members made gifts and favors for the Christmas dinner served in a Latin-American children's ward.

FRENCH CLUB

The voice of President Don Heron saying over the P. A. system "L'alliance de française recontrent," called French Club members to their monthly meeting. After Secretary Julie Woodward took roll, members played games, watched slides, and learned more about French life and customs through the programs planned by Program Chairman Sandi Hoecker. The dues, collected by Treasurer Judy Nave, provided refreshments for members.

GERMAN CLUB

"Einer musz heiraten!" No—you're not seeing things. It's just the title of the German club s play. Colored slides on Germany, and the all-language Christmas party are but a few of their activities.

The club affords an excellent opportunity for the students to speak German in informal groups, and to learn more about German culture and the customs of the people.

By the way—"Einer musz heiraten" translated means, "One must marry." (One of two brothers, that is.) Sounds interesting, doesn't it?

Mr. Jerz, sponsor pro-temp, B. Alexander, J. Seely, G. Stanfa, M. Wilson, Miss Norman.

Striving for better understanding of the world's people through international relationship, Bloom United Nations Club had a special project writing to people in foreign countries.

In addition to the weekly presentations of different aspects and countries in this world-wide organization, the club, with the guidance of Miss Margaret Norman, sponsored an all-school assembly. Featured were noted lecturers who spoke on important functions of United Nation's work.

The year was highlighted by an excursion to Starved Rock during spring vacation.

HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE

This carefully chosen committee of upperclassmen strives to improve social conditions in the school and community. Under their sponsors, Miss Margaret Norman and Mr. Alvin Andersen, the members held weekly discussions at school or in homes, attended the annual Tri-County Convention, and posted literature during Brotherhood Week.

Last year, they honored our school by initiating and playing host to the first South Suburban Conference on Human Relations.

AUDUBON CLUB

Field trips to the forest preserve and the dunes are but a few of the many activities of the Audubon Club. Under their sponsor, Miss Amy Applegate, the members are responsible for the maintenance of the school aquarium. Through such activities, the Club promotes interest in nature study and science by showing that learning can be fun.

"The Lady with the candle," the woman in white whose gentle hands ease pain and suffering—she is the idol of the Future Nurses Club.

Speakers from hospitals in the Chicago area and field trips to nearby hospitals helped acquaint the girls of the club with the various nursing education programs open to them, the academic and personal requirements they must meet, and the opportunities the profession had to offer them.

Together with their sponsor, Mrs. Thelma Crane, school nurse, the members planned a spring picnic and a Christmas project of making toys for a children's hospital.

RED CROSS

"But what can we do?" This is the question many of us ask when floods sweep families from their homes in a town on the Mississippi, a soldier's leg is shot off in Korea, or a small boy weeps for his dead parents in a large city. These are but a few of the thousands who benefit from the good will efforts of the Junior Red Cross.

Every year Bloom's chapter, sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Kelly, undertakes projects for hospitalized veterans and underprivileged and orphaned children in the United States and overseas.

Through its work, other organizations in the school are inspired to add their help where help is needed.

F.H.A.

In accordance with the varied duties of a homemaker, the activities of the F.H.A. at Bloom embrace a wide range. While working together for a better and happier home life for everyone at their Wednesday meetings each month, the girls engage in such projects as Red Cross sewing, Bow Day, and writing Pen Pals in foreign countries. Their helpfulness is appreciated by Bloomites when they serve at the many banquets held throughout the year.

Pillars of democracy—these are the teachers throughout the world who enlighten minds with knowledge. Bloom's Future Teachers Club, sponsored by Miss Pauline Douglas, helps prepare interested students for this worthy profession through films, talks by practice teachers, and a trip to one of the state colleges. In addition to learning of the opportunities and responsibilities involved in teaching, the girls partake of conventional social activities and hold a Christmas and a Graduates' party.

"To develop rural leadership, character, scholarship, thrift, and social ability; to encourage cooperation, and to increase love of farm life"—this is the admirable undertaking of the Future Farmers of America.

Boys enrolled in vocational agriculture are eligible to wear the purple jacket with the F.F.A. emblem signifying membership in the club.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. E. E. Mayhew of Bloom's agricultural department, the boys held evening meetings once a month to plan activities. In addition to a Christmas party and an officers banquet, fall and spring picnics were planned with the Future Homemakers for a special treat. Trips to stock shows and a week of leadership training at Camp Shaw-wa-Nasee were educational as well as entertaining to these future farmers.

MANAGERS CLUB

An integral part of BLOOM's activities is the Managers Club, an organization that works closely with the BLOOM sports program. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Elmer Nelson, the members have charge of tickets, ID cards, and management of all the athletic teams.

Every year the Club looks forward to their annual attendance of the Chicago Daily News Relays, one of the highlights of the year.

"Let me see your pass!" These are the dooming words the out-of-class wanderer is challenged with by the hall guards stationed at various places in the corridors. In addition to keeping the halls clean and quiet, they assist in checking out home-to-lunch students.

These "cops" of Bloom halls keep order in the mad rush between classes as well as help the bewildered freshmen, and an occasional upperclassman, find their classes during the first days of school. Jim Curcio, commissioner of public improvement, works hand-in-hand with their sponsor Mr. Clayton Smith and Captain Wayne Mulderink to achieve efficient traffic control. In the spring, these volunteer workers are rewarded with a trip to a Big League ball game.

ATTENDANCE & OFFICE MONITORS

Slipping in and out of classrooms carrying blue and yellow slips of paper are the indispensable Attendance and Office Monitors. These efficient girls provide a system of communication between the classrooms and the business office as well as help the regular office workers. Via their services, attendance can be checked from period to period, and students can easily be summoned by teachers and parents.

Each hour several girls give up their study hall to help fellow Bloomites use the library. These girls relieve the librarians of routine duties, leaving them free to aid students. The library girls collect "yellow slips," take attendance, check books, and do clerical work. Much of the efficiency of our library is due to these friendly helpers.

HOSTESSES

First impressions mean a lot, and with this idea in mind, Bloom's hostesses greet visitors with warm welcomes and try to give them a pleasing impression of our school. Every period one of this group of well-poised junior and senior girls is on duty in the main hall, ready to show off Bloom.

Teen Age Coeds, an organization meant to broaden the experiences of high school girls by helping them socially and vocationally, was reorganized this year by student request.

The junior and senior girls were polled, and discussion groups based on mutual interests were formed. At the twice monthly meetings the girls spend chow hours digesting information and opinions on various and sundry topics. Everything from date bait to college plans are discussed at the gab fests.

CHESS CLUB

"Check! Your king's in danger."

"Don't worry, my knight will protect him." — No, this isn't medieval lingo, but this the usual trend of conversation at the Tuesday meetings of the Pawn Shop, more commonly known as the Chess Club.

This game of pure skill, played on a board similar to that used in checkers, offers the members an opportunity to improve their mental capacities.

Inter- and intra-mural tournaments, planned by their sponsor Mr. Richard Walton, are played throughout the year. The club's activities offer chess players top competition and teach those interested in the game how to play.

RADIO CLUB

Any Thursday, after school, a group of "hams" can be found in room 122. No, it's not a gathering of porkers but the meeting of the Radio Club. Instruction in theory and practice is given beginning and advanced groups by their sponsor, Mr. Dale Lawton, at their Thursday meetings. The need for skilled radio operators in times of war and peace gives the "hams" a chance to employ the knowledge and skill that the club teaches them.

"Testing" 1-2-3-4 "Testing." An rly comer to any of the school assemlies might hear these words echoing ver the P. A. system. These are the 06 boys making sure of good acoustcs. The five members of this imporint organization are picked from the adio Club. With the help of their ponsor, Mr. D. Lawton, they operate he amplifying equipment for Bloom's ublic address system, assemblies, ances, and banquets.

PROJECTION STAFF

"Roll 'em!" The call goes out, and the boys in the projection booth flip the switch that starts another educational film on its way to Bloom students. While the thirty boys of this service organization are busy projecting films and caring for the other audio-visual equipment, the four girl members are taking over the task of typing schedules and cataloging the many films. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Lloyd Richert, these volunteer workers brighten many a school day with movies.

PHOTO CLUB

Fun galore and an opportunity to pick up valuable photo pointers are scheduled for any Bloomite who joins the Photography Club. Monthly contests for different types of photography offer the members a fine chance for experimenting with their interest.

The school's well-equipped darkroom, and professional press camera helped Mr. Hineline's shutterbugs meet the overwhelming need for pictures to be used on Bloom's three literary publications. Through speeches by professional photographers, films, and planned experiments, the members learned the various uses of commercial and color photography as well as special effects.

However, Photo Club is not all work. Picnics are held in the fall and spring when the cameras are laid down long enough to grab a hot dog and a coke. The highlight of the year was a gala Christmas Party.

SPEECH CLUB

Demosthenes, the famous Greek orator, may have shouted at the sea with his mouth full of pebbles to improve his voice, but Bloomites interested in developing specialized speech skills join the Bloom Speech Activities Association.

Each of the four units of this two-year-old organization, humorous and serious declamation, extemporaneous, radio and after-dinner speaking, interpretive reading, and original and oratorical declamation, competed for points in state-wide competitions.

Mr. Don Thomas, Mrs. Edna North, Mr. Jack Curry, and Mr. William Shroyer divided the job of sponsorship — chauffeuring as well as tutoring the aspiring contestants.

Special recognition was given the school when the team placed fourth in the Calumet City Invitational Contest.

DRAMA CLUB

"That all the world's a stage" is well known to the promising Thespians of the Drama Club learning the fundamentals of various drama activities, such as make-up, costuming, acting, and stagecraft.

Their sponsor, Miss Leitha Paulsen, saw that everyone was given an equal opportunity to participate in one of the three plays held by the club. Their trip to Chicago to see "Teahouse of the August Moon" was an inspiration as well as an experience the members will long treasure.

Behind the excitement offered Friday nights at the only "Morgue" in the world filled with lively bodies is the efficiently managed Junior Board under the sponsorship of Miss Marjorie Pendleton. The group works hand in hand with an overseeing adult board. Organizing programs, making improvements in the clubroom, and maintaining to Bloom teenagers' standards keep the two boards busy. Sixteen members were elected this year by popular vote of Morgue ticket holders.

Freshman Night, September 16, and Cupid's Capers on Valentine's Day were special events held in the modern recreation center.

New ideas and novelty dances are being planned to make the Morgue the center of even more Bloomites' weekend agendas.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

One of the highest honors a Bloom student can receive is to be a member of the A Cappella Choir. Under the direction of Miss Jean Pavy, the choir members practice five days a week. Appearing numerous times in public, the choir sings for various community affairs, the Homewood, Flossmoor, and Chicago Heights junior high schools, and at the National Association of Secondary School Principals. In addition to their public appearances, the choir put on many assemblies for the school, including their rendition of the "Messiah" during the Christmas season, the spring concert, and the Baccalaureate services.

GIRLS CHOIR

Twice each week approximately 60 girls meet with Miss Pavy to sing in three-part harmony. These girls comprise the Girls' Choir, the vocal group from which a large part of the A Cappella choir is formed. The Girls' Choir is an integral part of each concert and program presented by the Music department and a valuable training ground for the A Cappella choir.

BOYS GLEE CLUB

Sing a song of six pence, or maybe a ballad or a Negro spiritual; whatever the repertoire, Mr. Cannelin's boys, in their tenors, basses, and baritones, learn through the experience. Tape recordings help them discover their weaknesses.

From the top of their ranks, members are recruited for the select A Cappella Choir.

The Spring Concert offers the Boys Glee Club a fine opportunity to display all its achievements.

O CHOIR

GIRLS GLEE CLUB

Practice makes perfect for the large group of girls in Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Robert Hippensteel.

Variety is the by-word of the group with the obvious result that everything from long hair to jazz is practiced during the all-too-short periods three times a week.

Being the nucleus for building the more advanced choirs, the group of girls are selected on their music reading ability and voice quality.

Girls, girls, everywhere—all are freshmen and all love to sing. This is the Freshman Chorus, the largest music group at Bloom, under the co-directorship of Miss Jean Pavy and Mr. Robert Hippensteel. Every Tuesday and Thursday separate groups meet to get acquainted with different types of music while learning three-part harmony. Although they join the other music groups for the Spring Concert, the main objective of the group is to prepare the girls for the more advanced choirs.

MAJORETTES & FLAG TWIRLERS

A roll of drums and all eyes turn to catch a whirl of flags and a flash of batons as the majorettes and flag twirlers strut down the field at half-time during the home football games. Their eye-catching costumes and tricky routines have made half-time at all home basketball and football games a lively and colorful event.

An added interest to their routines is the variety of costumes appropriate to the season. Thanksgiving saw a bunch of Indians twirling flags and batons; Halloween brought orange and black outfits into use, while Christmas and Valentine's Day found the fancy strutters in red and white.

Under the direction of Mr. E. Cannelin, the girls marched in the Christmas and Memorial Day parades, appeared at Elgin high school, and helped at all pep assemblies and the spring concert.

The syncopated team practices various formations to be used in their routines.

During the football season this winter when the band provided the halftime entertainment and the thermometer hovered around zero, red flannels gained popularity among Bloom's band.

Marching behind their high-hatted drum major, Bob Arvin, the blue-uniformed band played for Northwestern's Band Day football game and for local parades.

Under the baton of Mr. E. M. Cannelin, concerts were presented at Rich and Elgin High Schools, as well as the annual Spring Concert at home.

The year was climaxed with Commencement at which time the band joined the orchestra in playing a final tribute to the departing seniors.

ORCHESTRA

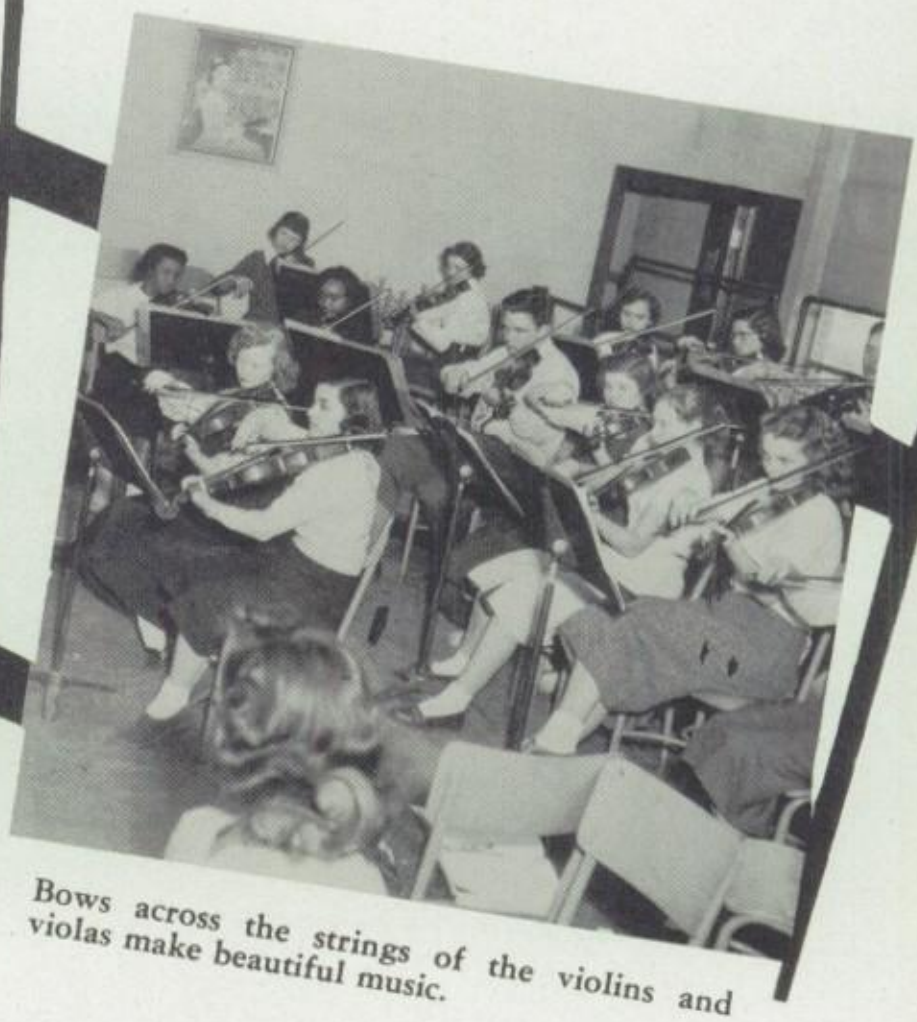
"Music soothes the savage beast"—so the poets claim, but Bloom's fifty-five piece concert orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Robert Hippensteel, provides experience for promising musicians as well.

Practice makes perfect is the motto of the deligent players who often spend after school in addition to 8th hour perfecting their talents.

Entertaining both students and faculty with well-chosen selections, the orchestra played for the Christmas assembly, the vesper and Baccalaureate Services, the Spring Music Festival, Senior Class Day, and Commencement.

Their itinerary included assemblies at Homewood and Washington Junior High Schools, in addition to small ensembles that appeared at various social functions.

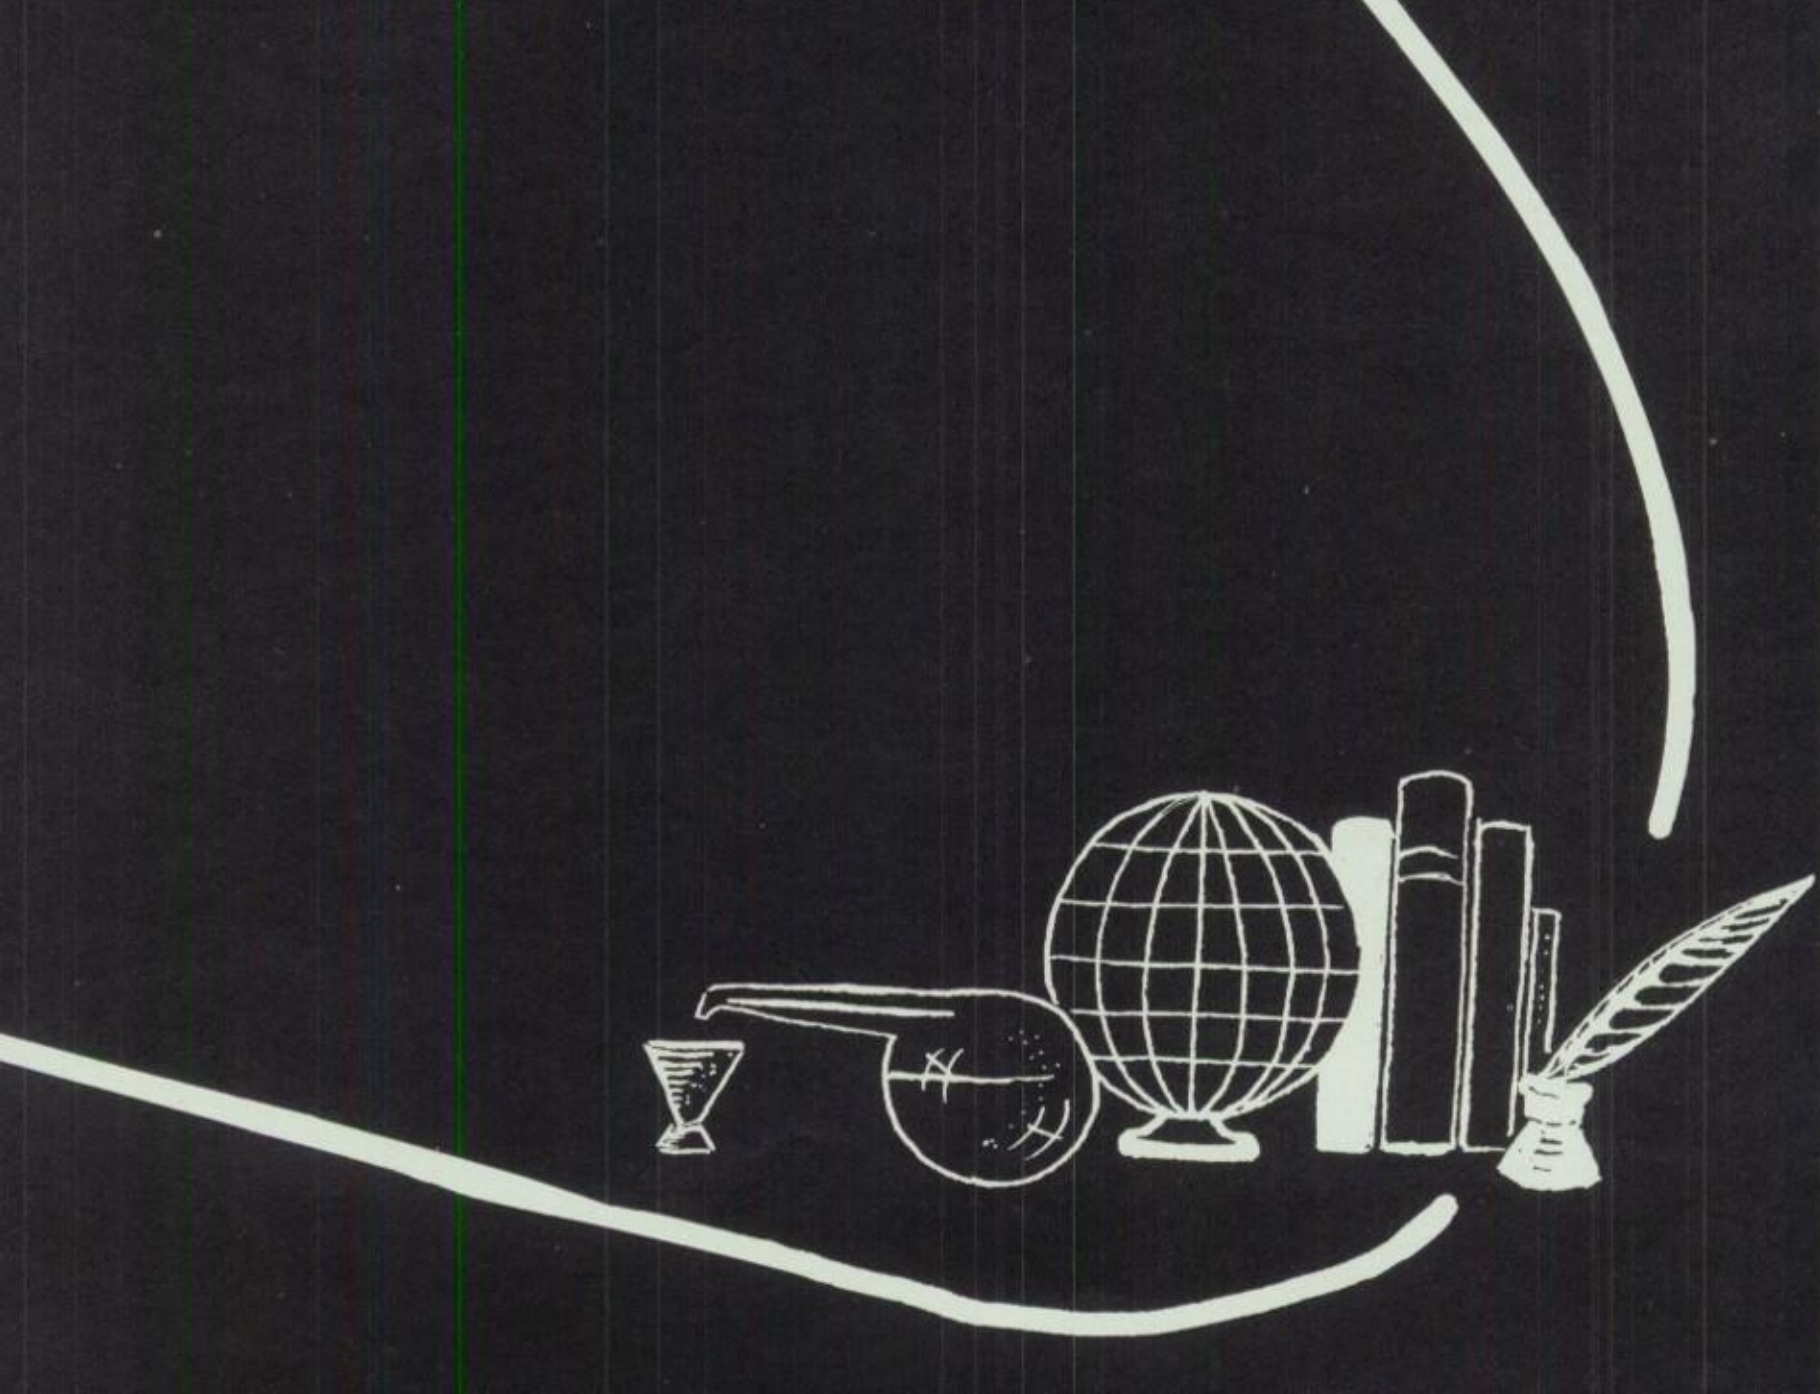
The cello section plucks the strings when the music says "pizzicato".



Bows across the strings of the violins and violas make beautiful music.

FACULTY

Under the direction of Dr. Harold Metcalf, superintendent, the administration and faculty work together for the sole purpose of improving the minds and skills of Bloom students through instruction and advice. It is, indeed, a fortunate student who becomes the recipient of such sound counseling from so well-qualified a team as the educators of BTHS.



Dr. Paul Ashley, Mr. Howard Miller, Mrs. Dino Pignotti, Mr. Harry Lange, Mr. Emmett Richards, Mr. Paul Keen, Mr. Charles Baker.

SCHOOL BOARD

By the end of the year blueprints were completed for the new addition to Bloom and a contractor hired. At last the dreams of a swimming pool and auditorium were coming true. But instead of being content with this progress, the school board plunged into a new project, the establishment of a junior college at Bloom. The Board worked on these projects long hours without pay but the gratitude of the community.

The P.T.A. continued working for a better understanding between home and school. They sponsored various events to accomplish this such as the parents' visiting days, and programs at the regular monthly meetings on Wednesday night.

A new project this year was the Teenagers Aid, a series of panel discussions to help students with common problems.

COUNSELORS

"My alarm clock is broken," or "I had a flat on the way," are only two of the many sob stories the counselors patiently listen to each day. They must use their own judgement in deciding which excuses are genuine and which problems are most pressing. A new method of handling tardies, with each counselor writing all excuses for a single week, cleared the offices so that counselors were more easily reached by troubled students.

In office 221, colorful college catalogs overflowed the shelves and supplemented advice about college given by Miss Herr and Mr. Martin. Miss Oxborrow and Mr. Steckel were "promoted" with last year's sophomores and this year served as junior counselors. They left their counseling duties to Miss Gioannini and Mr. Feldvebel. Miss Ora Theobald and Mr. Neubauer steered the freshmen through the many problems of the first year at Bloom.

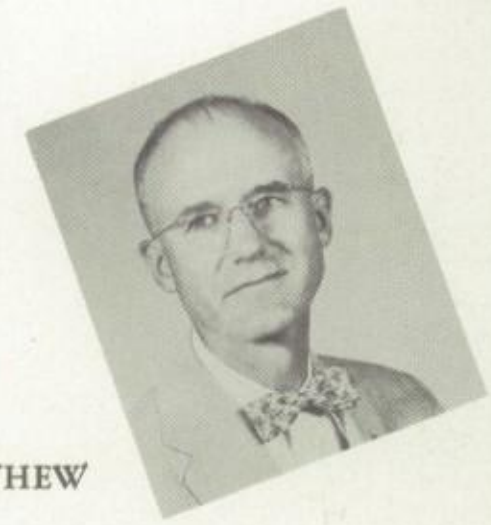
MR. ALFRED ODEGARD

MISS HILDUR SODERMAN

In this the machine age, science has yet to find a machine to replace Mr. Alfred Odegard, assistant superintendent and administrator of the business office. The closest possible replacement would be a combination adding machine to take charge of finances for Bloom; a cash register to keep the money entrusted to him by clubs and organizations; a tabulator to keep both book rental system and bus service straight, and a voting machine to direct the City of Bloom elections each year. Still, this machine, for all its efficiency, would lack the kindness and courtesy which marks Mr. Odegard's every act.

Your high school record follows you wherever you go. Miss Hilda Soderman, registrar, makes sure of that. It is her duty to keep the records of each individual's progress at Bloom. Every A and B (along with C's, D's, and E's) is noted by her for posterity—and future employers.

A. G.



MR. EDWARD MAYHEW

The Agriculture Department, under the direction of Mr. Mayhew, is composed of boys studying vocational agriculture. Bloom's extensive program makes it possible for the boys to learn the latest techniques and processes of growing so that they may be progressive farmers, well-trained for rural leadership. They, therefore, have at hand a well-rounded and excellently planned course.

Bill Vanderwouded, Alan Miller, and Melvin Bill know that a little "scratch" now pays off at market time with big money.

ART

MR. MERLE DODGE

Bloom struck oil! Not on campus, but in the jars of multi-hued oil paints which were used in the new oil painting class inaugurated by Mr. Dodge. This new class of advanced art students learned the fundamentals of working in oils.

Need help with decoration for a dance, or publicity posters? Mr. Dodge will help out. His one man department has been an inspiration to harassed committees all through the year.

Mr. Dodge looks with approval at Ardaith Heusmann's artistic efforts. Jean White, Harold Whittin and Carol Zimmerman are lost in their work—like true artists.

Mr. Berg introduces Kay Kelly, Carol Strandberg, and Pat Fox to the mimeograph machine in an office practice class.

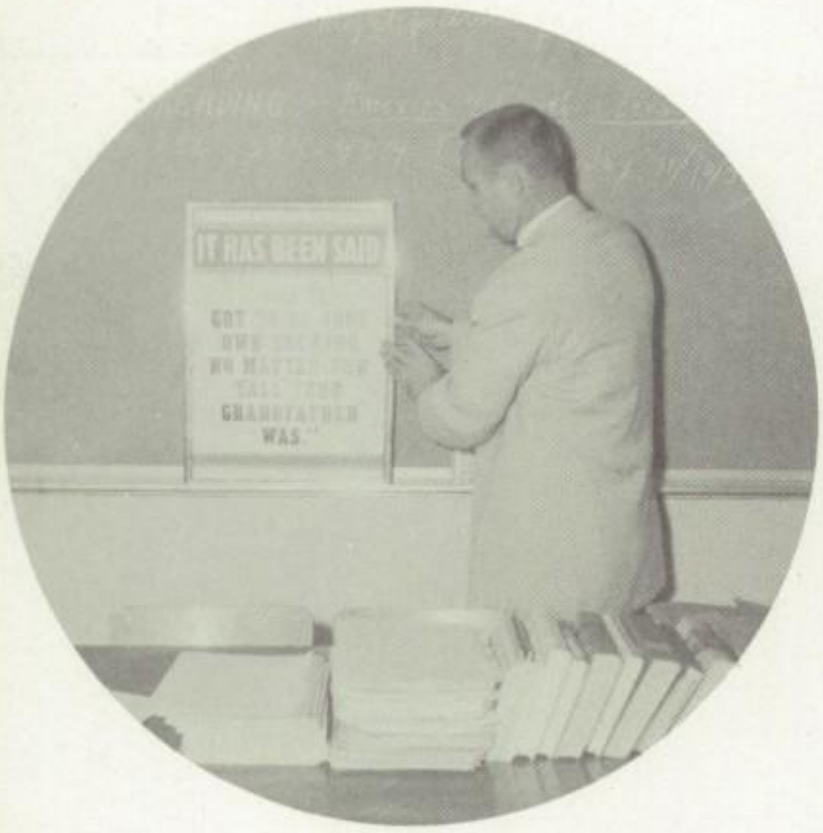
BUSINESS EDUCATION

Through the Business Education Department headed by Mr. Berg, students may get needed preparation to be successful in the business world. The courses in this department are especially geared to equip them with business skill taught in shorthand, typewriting, record keeping, and business law classes. The many varied subjects enable them to broaden their knowledge in this particular field.

As Miss Chapman dictates numbers, Joyce Greene and Phyllis Cameli practice using an adding machine.

MR. HAROLD SCHNEIDER

MISS VIVIAN STURTEVANT



Mr. Shroyer's poster supplements the material taught in his classes.

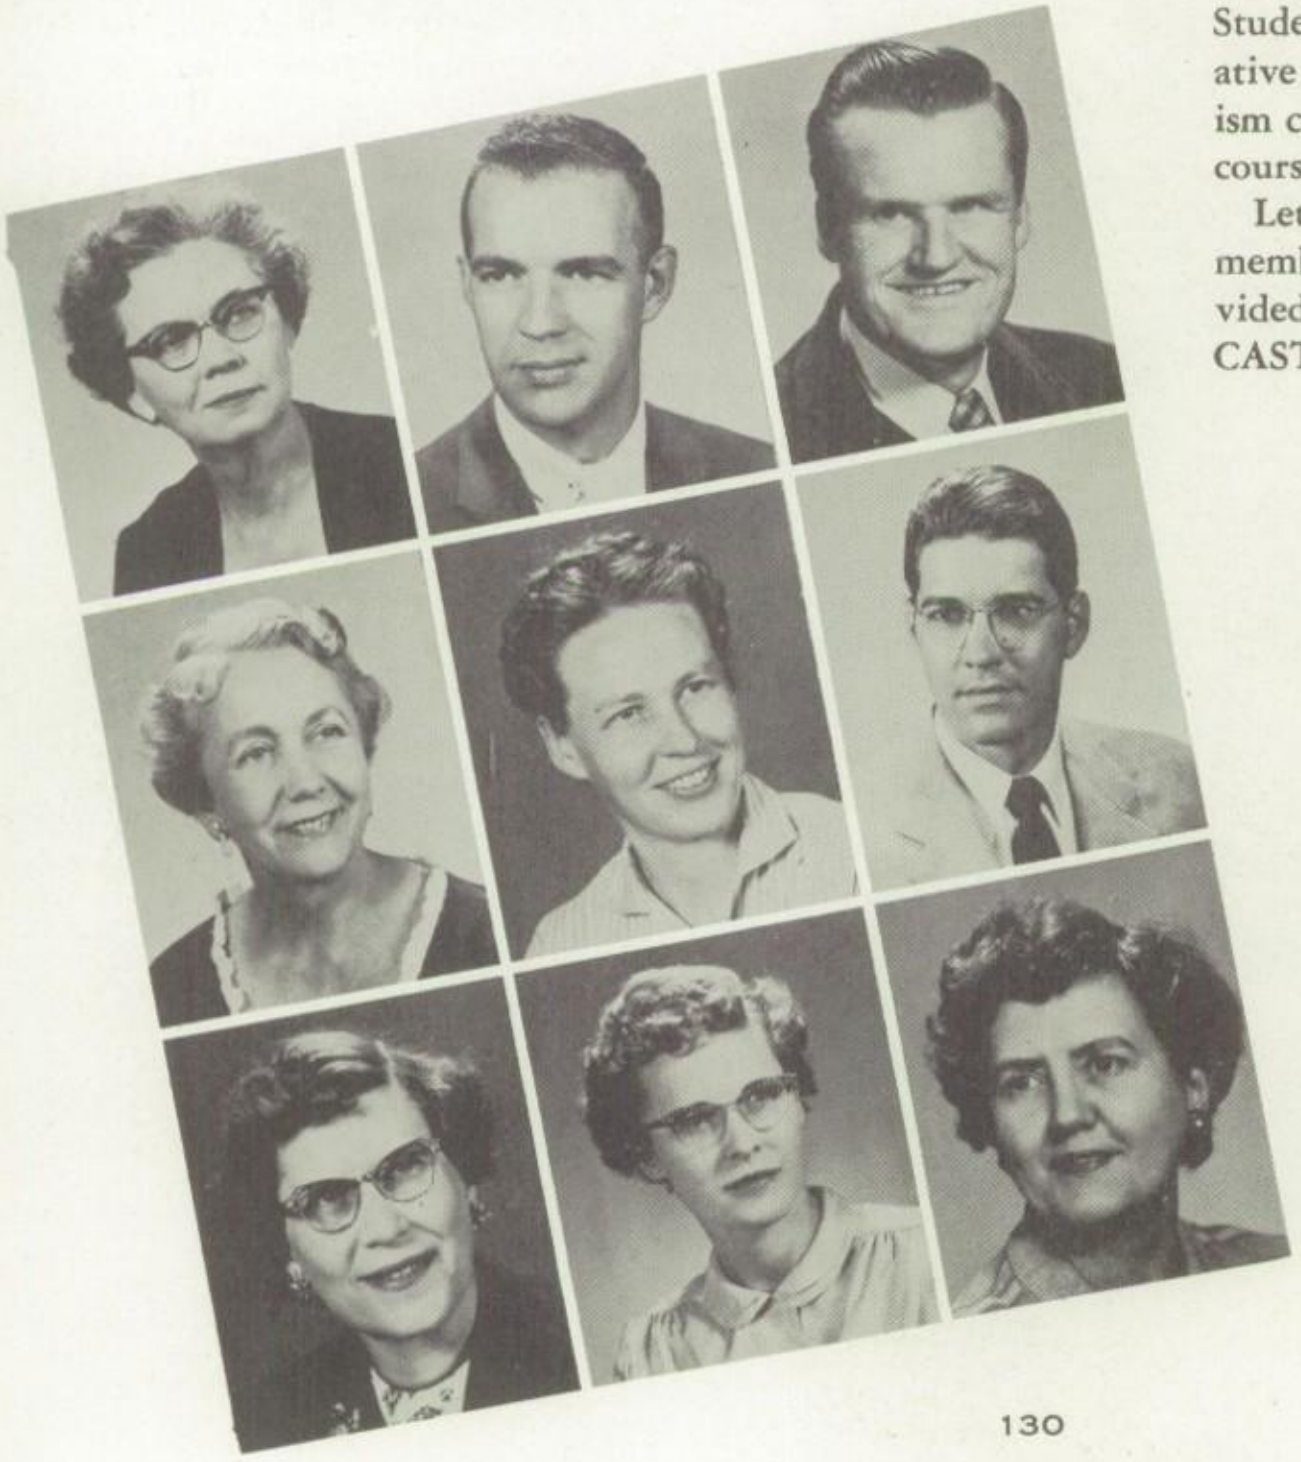
"Great Caesar's Ghost!" roams again in Room 311, where Miss House, Richard Banis, and Barbara Katavic look over projects for the unit on "Julius Caesar."

ENGLISH

Miss Fernald completed her first year as chairman of the English Department, oldest and largest department in Bloom. Five new teachers joined the staff, as the department expanded with the school.

A reading course was started to help college bound students speed up their reading rate. Students were also offered speech, drama, creative writing, world literature, and journalism courses, in addition to the regular English courses.

Letters from Miss Vera Kolhoff, a faculty member on leave of absence in Finland, provided interesting reading (via the BROADCASTER) for all Bloomites.



Row One: MISS SARA FERNALD, MR. DAVID BRIGGS, MR. JOHN CURRY

Row Two: MISS DORIS DEER, MISS PAULINE DOUGLAS, MR. ROBERT GARD

Row Three: MISS MARY ELIZABETH HOUSE, MISS JOAN KEWLEY, MISS BERTHA LEWIS

Row One: MR. THOMAS McKILLIP, MR FRANKLIN MILLER, MRS. EDNA NORTH. Row Two: MISS LEITHA PAULSEN, MISS JUANITA SCHOFF, MISS MILDRED SHARP.

"Emote," Mrs. North urges drama students Harry Osterman and Bob Stevens.

Mr. Briggs clarifies a question for Phyllis Wojcik.

Row One: MR. WILLIAM SHROYER, MISS ORA THEOBALD, MR. DONALD THOMAS. Row Two: MR. FRANK WHITESIDE.

Spicy cooking aromas floating from room 114 combatted the smells from the chem lab across the hall. Girls learned the elements of homemaking in this room and others, and displayed their skills at a faculty tea November 22, featuring refreshments made by the foods classes and a fashion show presented by the clothing classes.

New to Bloom and the Home Economics department is Miss Shirley Miller. Miss Marjorie Oxborrow heads the department.

"Over you go," says Miss Miller, as she watches the efforts of Dorleen Bacik and Beverly Austgen as they attempt to turn "patient" Sharlene Burchett in a Home and Family Care class.

HOME ECONOMICS

Jane Cull entrusts her sewing project to Miss Oxborrow's capable hands.

Row One: MISS MARJORIE OXBORROW, MISS JO ANN CAPESIUS. Row Two: MISS VELVA CARLEY, MISS SHIRLEY MILLER. Row Three: MISS DOROTHY PRINTZ.

L. C. Sledge, Bob Trinell, and Andy Thomas try welding under the watchful supervision of Mr. Petersanti.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

Highlighting the year for most Industrial Education students was a field trip to General Motors "Powerama." Three student teachers, Mario Capecci, John Folta, and Philip Tortorici, got an inside view of the functions of the department, which Mr. Petersanti heads. Various courses offered to Bloomites included General Metals, Drawing, Auto Mechanics, and Woodworking. The Diversified Occupations course completed its second year and became an accepted part of the curriculum. Mr. Nick Colbrese was the only department addition.

Row One: MR. WALTER KURAS, MR. EUGENE NEUBAUER, MR. JOHN PROMBO. Row Two: MR. JOHN SEARS, MR. DONALD ZIEGLER.

Mr. Neubauer clears up a problem in Auto Mechanics for Jay Ton, Alfred Fry, Vernon Gray, and William Franklin.

LANGUAGE

Miss Sawyer and Camille Blaszczyk thumb through a Paris magazine in French II class.

Students appreciate the struggles of first graders learning to read when they become "first graders" in the Language Department. Bloomites are offered two years of French, Spanish and German, and three years of Latin.

Miss Annette Gioannini returned to the Language Department and counseling staff after a year's study at Yale University. She was chosen from among the best teachers in the nation to study on a John Hay Whitney scholarship.

Miss Dunn was the only newcomer to the department, which Miss Viola Herr heads.

Row One: MISS VIOLA HERR, MISS ADELAIDE DUNN. Row Two: MISS ANNETTE GIOANNINI, MISS BETTY KEOUGHAN. Row Three: MISS RUTH SAWYER, MISS HARRIET STRAUSS.

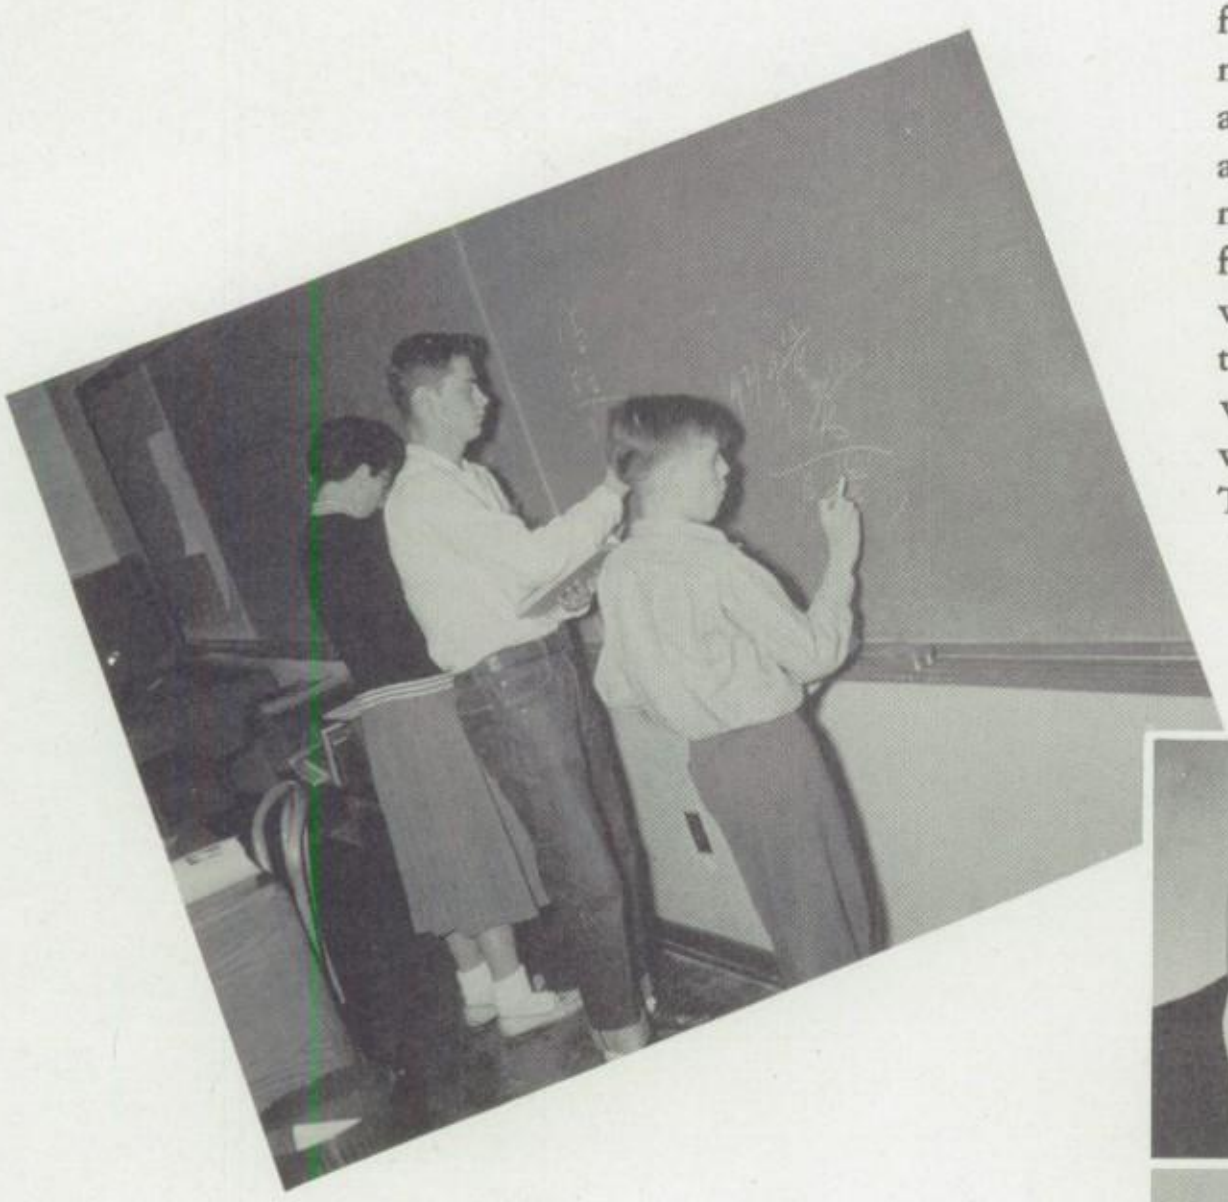
The Romans used wax tablets for their translation, but these Latin students, Ray DeLuca, Charles Bruti, Bill Motlong, and Carol Jaris, use blackboards.

Row One: MR. RALPH BRIGGS, MR. ROBERT ANDREWS, MISS ELIZABETH BOYER. Row Two: MR. ROBERT CASTATER, MISS EVA DUNN.

MATHEMATICS

"Let me see now, let x equal the angle to be bisected, let y equal . . ."

These familiar words were heard every day throughout the Mathematics Department. Among the courses offered to fill the graduation requirement in math were general math, algebra, plane and solid geometry and trigonometry. Interesting information about the mathematics can be found in the display case by the northwest entrance of the building, which this department took over. Mr. Briggs was chairman of this department, which added one new member, Mr. Tenney, to the staff this year.



Celeste Petrarca, Melvin Soderhan, and Otis Whitaker puzzle over an assignment in Mr. Parvonian's first hour math class.

Row One: MR. GEORGE HAMLIN, MR. SAMUEL PARVONIAN. Row Two: MR. ALFRED TENNEY, MR. RICHARD WALTON.

MUSIC

From the solemn beauty of the Christmas vespers to the hearty pep marches at the athletic games, the Music Department is part of Bloom.

Among them, Mr. Hippinsteel, department chairman, Miss Pavy and Mr. Cannelin shared the conducting duties of the Band, Orchestra, a Cappella Choir, Girl's Choir, Girl's Glee Club, Boy's Glee Club, and Freshman Chorus.

In addition to this variety of musical organizations for every talent, there was a Harmony course to teach the fundamentals of musical theory.

This spring the Music Department, with friends and parents filling the gym, put on the annual combined concert.

George, well-known to science students, is being shown off again by Mr. Steckel to Marilyn Mignin, Tony Bravo and Bill Reynolds.

SCIENCE

Squeals from room 113 marked the beginning of what is known to biologists as "dissection." Squeamish females avoided this class and turned to general science, chemistry, or physics to fill their science graduation requirement. Freshmen were introduced to the department in physiology classes, and decided then whether or not science was for them.

Mr. Stehr, Mr. Richert, and Mr. Aulie were the three teachers added to the department, which Miss Applegate heads.

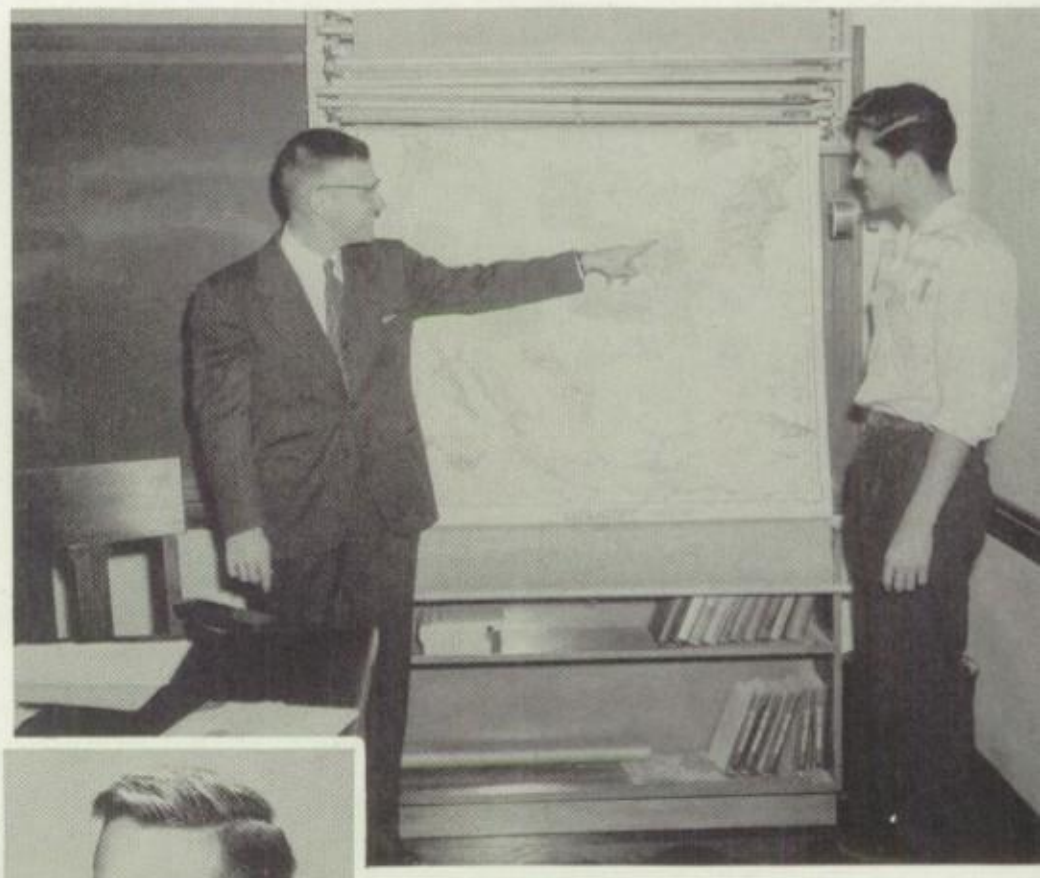
MR. LLOYD RICHERT, MR. RALPH STEBEN, MR. JAMES STECKEL, MR. GLENN STEHR.

Row One: MISS MARGARET NORMAN, MR. ALVIN ANDERSON, MISS HARRIET BALDWIN. Row Two: MISS GRACE CHAMBERLAIN, MR. ALEXANDER FELDVEBEL, MISS ELIZABETH KELLY.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Miss Margaret Norman, chairman of the Social Studies Department, taught the new advanced World History class. This course was open only to juniors and seniors. The American History course and citizenship course, both required of all Bloomites, kept the department busy. Credits earned in the new psychology classes were counted either as science or social studies credits.

The addition of two faculty members, Mr. Alvin Anderson, and Mr. Emmett Richards, increased the department to 12 members, making it the second largest in Bloom.



Mr. Sherman shows Nester Perez the site of Fort Dearborn in an American history class.

In anticipation of the new gymnasium, the Physical Education staffs expanded. Mr. Sarff this year had three full-time and two part-time instructors aiding him in the boys' gym, while Miss Veazey supervised three teachers in the girls' gym division.

Two new teachers, Miss Judy Connolley and Miss Mavis Conlee, caused confusion among the girls because of their similar names. Some girls solved the problem by referring to "the shorter one" and "the taller one."

LIBRARY

This year was a year of change for the library. Room 216 was converted into a library addition. This gave additional space for books and relieved crowded library conditions. The greater space made all books easily accessible to harried students beset with research problems. New numbers on the books, inked on this summer by chief librarian Miss Hess and Miss Hayworth, added to the efficiency of the library. New books brought the total number of volumes in Bloom's library to over 20,000.

Mr. Edwards joined the library staff as the department expanded with the floor space.

SENIORS

The members of the graduating class of 1956 bid a fond farewell and thank Bloom for the guidance and training offered them during their four-year stay. The world of chance is open to all those who wish to try their luck. It's a gamble--some will lose their footing and fail, while others will win and climb to fortune and to fame.

SENIOR OFFICERS: Miss Harriet Strauss, sponsor, Dave Rocha, vice-president, Charles Shanks, president, Joan Boyd, treasurer, Anne Weber, secretary.

FOUR YEARS FLY

To us seniors it seems as if it were only yesterday when we first entered Bloom as freshmen. The four years that have passed since that time have gone all too quickly for the majority of us.

As the time for graduation draws nearer and nearer, more than one of us looks back with nostalgia on the memory-filled years that are behind.

However, we don't spend too much time recalling the past, for the future and all that it holds lies ahead.

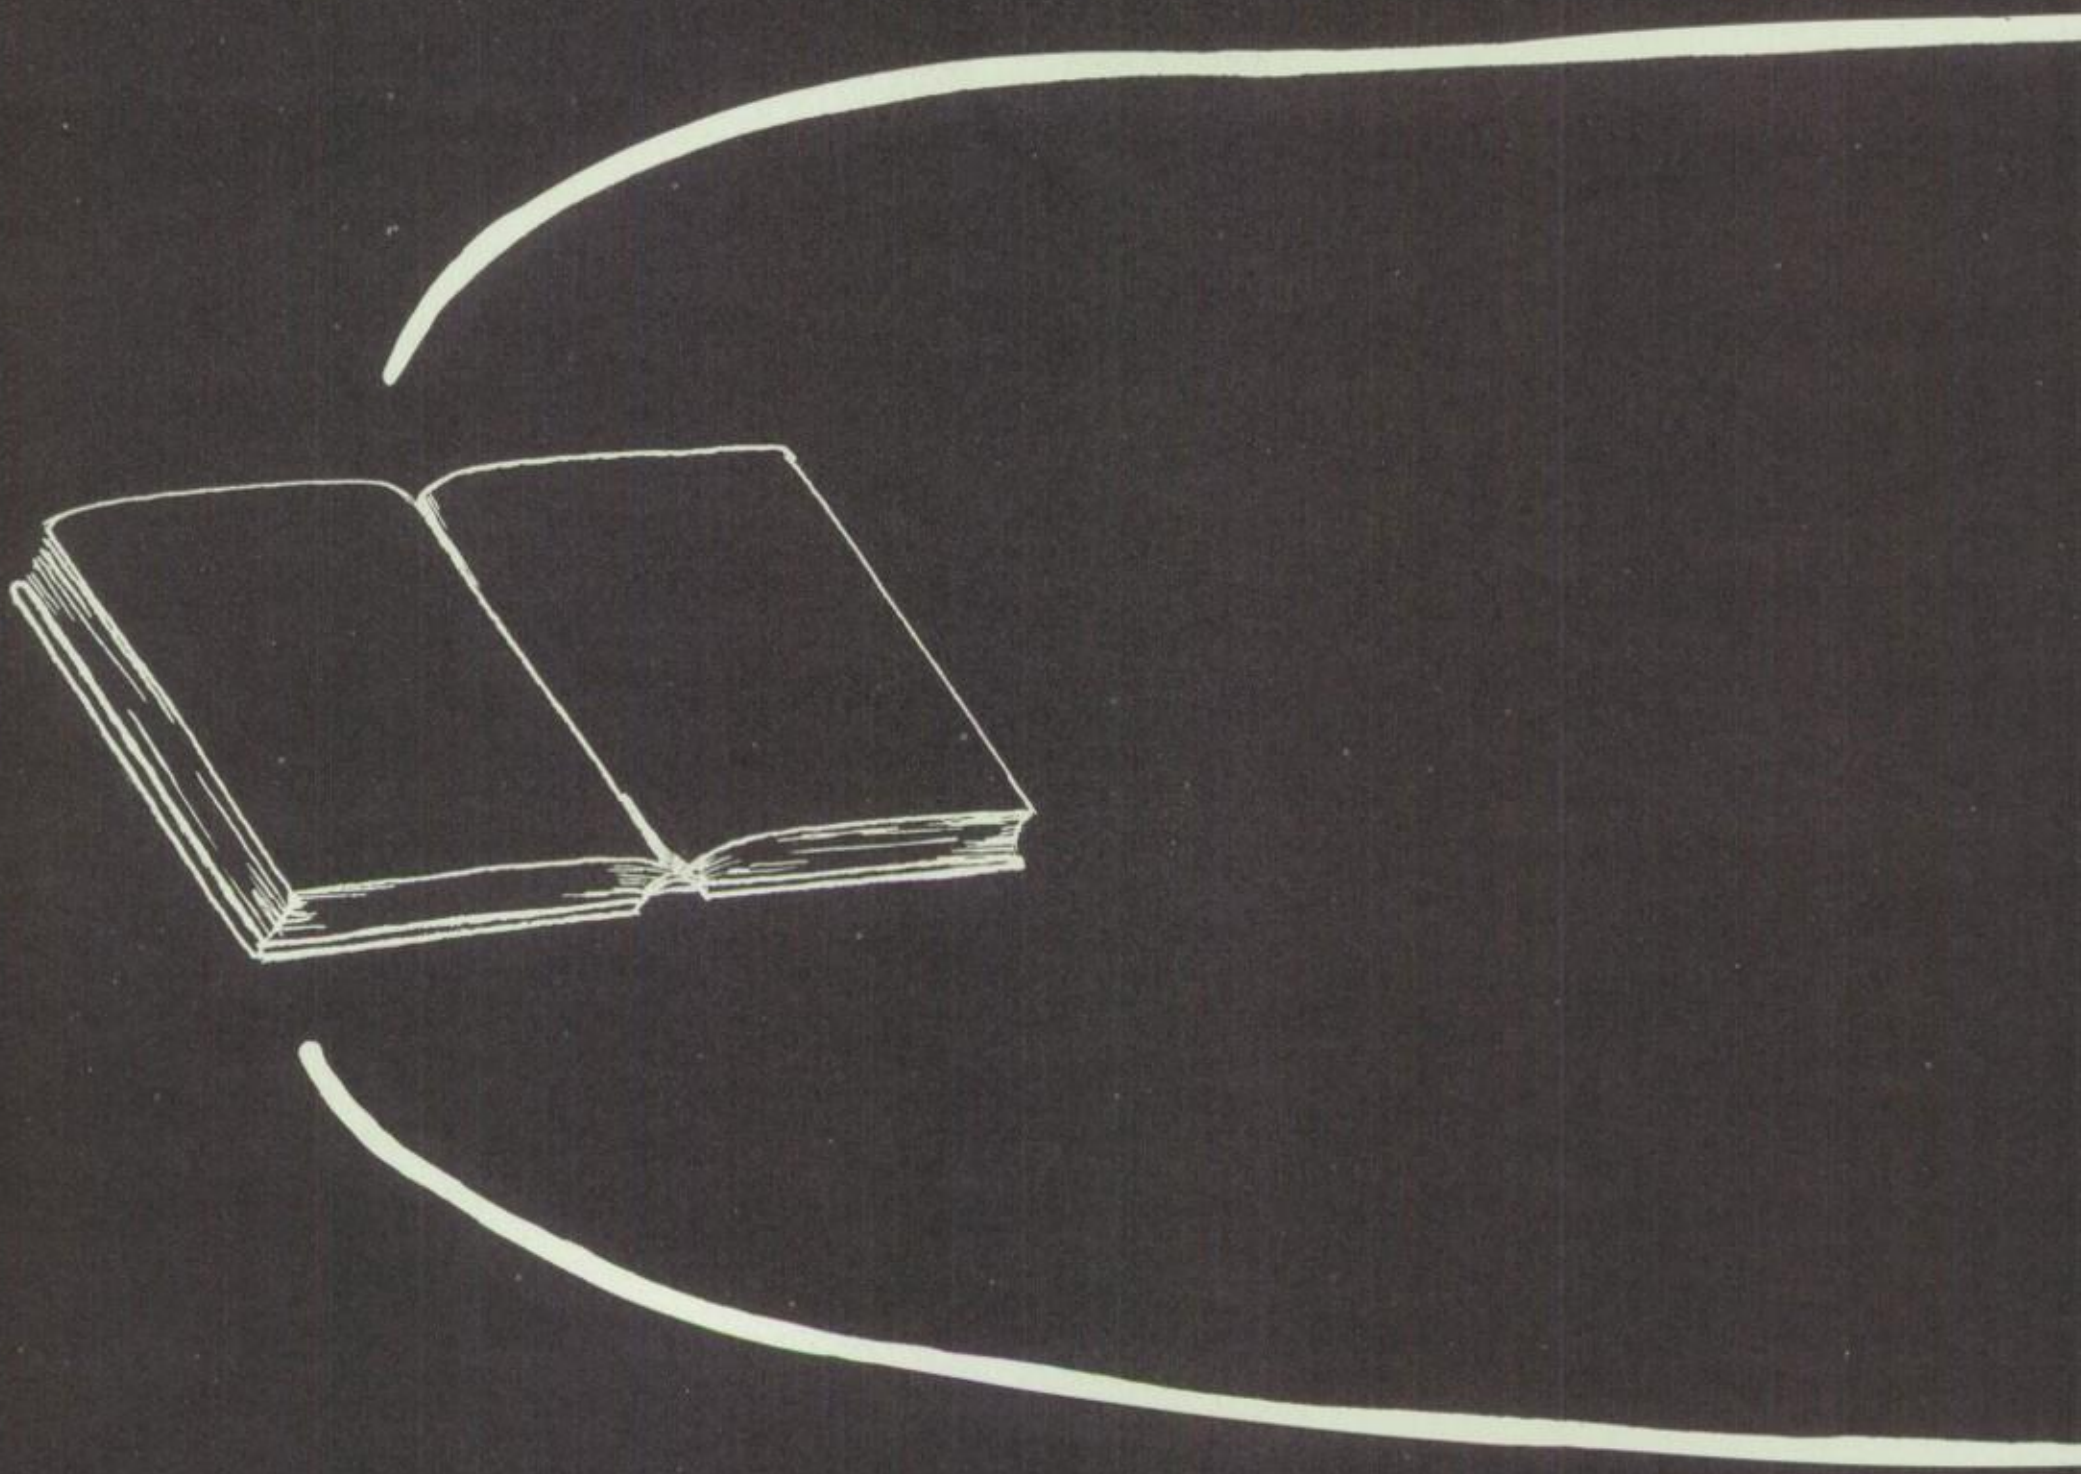
A string ensemble consisting of Barbara Wallace, Argia Jacobucci, Edna Jaracz, and Maureen Menges, was one of the many musical presentations in the Senior Class Assembly.



The imposing, gray tower of BTHS can be an awesome sight to the incoming freshman on Freshman Day. After his initiation an exciting three years as an underclassman follow. When the hectic Junior Penny Social rolls around, the rank of senior seems surprisingly close, but the days of being an underclassman at BTHS will never be forgotten.

It was the first day of school, his third year. Surprisingly enough, he was glad to come back. He realized how much he had really missed Bloom when he saw his last year's locker and his last year's English teacher. Of course, when he talked to all the friends he hadn't seen since last June, they all groaned and moaned together about starting school another September.

No doubt about it, this year would be different. He felt different—kind of old and wise when he watched the freshmen. This year he would be on the varsity team! This year he took gym only twice a week!

This was a money making year. It seemed he was always being talked into selling something—football shakers, basketball pencils, hot coffee, cold cokes.

He was in the talent assembly for his class and took part in the "Rock 'n Roll" all-school assembly.

This was the year his class was in charge of two of the big activities of the school year—the Prom and the Penny Social. More selling was done, more money was made, and more fun was had at the Penny Social. After the Prom, he agreed with everyone who said it was the best time he had ever had.

Then, suddenly, the school year was gone—until next year. And that would be here soon.

Oh? Who's he?————————————a junior, of course.

The second year he came to school, he was much wiser. He knew every room and hall in Bloom; well, almost every room and hall. He was amazed by the freshmen and still awed by the juniors and seniors. However, if you wanted to know anything, you could just ask him.

At the Shindig, a mixer held in October, he "mixed" with many old friends he had met last year and got acquainted with many classmates he hadn't even realized attended Bloom.

Of course, again, his class had to make money. "Cokes, ice cold cokes! Get your cokes here," were words he shouted, trying to convince the huddled football spectators that a cold coke was just what they needed.

His classmates gave an assembly for themselves one Thursday morning. Afterwards, they were all sure they were the most talented group that had ever attended Bloom.

This year it was their job to decorate for commencement. They gathered flowers from all the surrounding communities and used all their artistic ability. Some day, in the distant future, some class would decorate for their commencement.

Then suddenly, school was over—until next year. And that wasn't such a long way off.

Oh? Who's he?————a sophomore, of course!

The enormous, forbidding building loomed before him. It was so big. There were so many people, and everyone else knew where he was going.

He had been excited about going to school. In fact, he had looked forward to it for the last whole week, but he hadn't figured that it would be a terrifying experience.

After he had lived through the first day, the others became easier. He found his locker three times out of every five, always rmembered at least the first number of his locker combination, and could go from class to class without even looking for the numbers on the doors.

He went to a class mixer and met a lot of others who knew as much as he did! He learned that four of these people were to be elected to lead the class, and that one teacher was to be a special guardian of the class.

He and his classmates tried to sell a lot of refreshments at the Leyden football game, for he had heard that his class would need money for that distant future when they would be seniors. He also took part in his class assembly and showed off his talents to all his classmates.

Then suddenly, school was over—until next year, but that was a long way off.

Oh? Who's he?————————————a freshman, of course!
